Hearing Sept. 9 For Suspects in Wilson Slaying

Trio Relieved on Hearing of Suicide of Frank Tylius
DEPEND ON ALIBIS
Claim Dozen Saw Accused in Kenosha on Day of Murder

Portage — (P) — Given a week to prepare for their hearing on first degree murder charges, William Covelli, Frank Consentino and Frank Infusino, accused of slaying Robert A. Wilson, Kenosha real estate dealer, expressed confidence today that alibis supported by relatives and friends will clear them of the charges.

Unshaken in their denials of guilt, the trio received news at their arraignment before Justice Frank Gruner last night which sent them back to their cells in the county jail with high hopes they will not be brought to trial. They were told that Frank Tylius, whose confession implicated them in the slaying, had committed suicide.

The defendants were visibly relieved when Defense Attorney Henry A. Gunderson, Portage, informed them of Tylius' death. "It's a good thing," Covelli said. "We are two prisoners smiling." Attorneys Chris A. Juliani and Robert Baker of Kenosha, retained by relatives as defense counsel, announced there are more than a dozen persons who will testify they saw the defendants in Kenosha on Aug. 24, the day Wilson was slain on a farm near Lodi, Wis.

The arraignment lasted only a few minutes since the defendants were named in a single warrant issued by District Attorney Ross Bennett on complaints signed by Sheriff Alfred Gilbert. Justice Gruner bound them over for hearing on Sept. 9.

Delay Serving Warrant
District Attorney Bennett had prepared another first degree warrant for Victor Dominick, Racine, Wis., who is under arrest in Sacramento, Calif., but said it will not be served pending further investigation of Dominick's claim he was out of the state when the crime was committed.

Authorities here were advised that Dominick has a railroad ticket stub showing that he purchased his transportation to California on Aug. 18. Sacramento police sent word that the prisoner refused to waive extradition, declaring he has witnesses to prove he was in the California city on Aug. 20 and also on the day of the slaying.

Racine police today reported having found witnesses who say Dominick did not leave for Sacramento until Aug. 24, the day of the murder, although his ticket was purchased Aug. 16. They have asked railroad officials to check their records to learn when the ticket was used.

With the death of Tylius, who was expected to testify for the state, District Attorney Bennett admitted that Dominick has become the most important figure in the state's case. He has asked the Sacramento authorities to send photographs of Dominick. They will be shown to witnesses who saw Wilson at Lodi with two men he identified as prospective purchasers of the property.

In his confession, authorities said, Tylius identified Dominick as the man who went with him to the Emerson farm to get a drink. Alfred Larson saw the men there, and later the trio was seen by members of the Harold Knutsen family.

Hunt for Woman
Meanwhile, the prosecutor also had ordered a thorough search for a woman who is believed to have made out one of the notes on which, through legal process, the conspirators allegedly intended to seize more than $40,000 of Wilson's estate. A handwriting expert reported that the note apparently was made out in a feminine hand.

At an inquest held in Wisconsin Dells, where Tylius was placed in the city jail early yesterday because he feared his fellow prisoners in the county jail might harm him, a coroner's jury decided that Tylius committed suicide by hanging.

Tammany Hall Silent About Walker Case

New York Wonders What Course Will be on Former Mayor's Plans

STATUS IS DOUBTFUL

Walker Remains in Seclusion—Prepares to Rest On Doctor's Orders

New York — (P) — James J. Walker today gave his first interview since he resigned from the office of mayor, but he still refrained from saying definitely whether or not he intended to run for office again. "My case is in the hands of the people of New York city," he said in response to a direct question as to whether he was going to run for reelection, "and I am not going to urge them one way or the other. My record as mayor of the city of New York is all I have to offer. The Democratic party, as well as the people of New York, has my case. I want the fellow on the street — the man and woman on the street — to decide it."

"My record as mayor, which has been without any distinction of race, color or creed, must be judged and I want the peoples' frank and definite judgment."

New York — (P) — Three little words—James J. Walker's "I hereby resign"—echoed perplexingly today down the political corridors of New York.

The immediate meaning was obvious enough: Walker was through, for the time being at least, with the mayoral chair. What people were wondering was what effect his resignation might reflect in November.

Uncertainty as to Walker's political intentions continued. Tammany Hall, one of whose favorite sons he has been, remained close-mouthed. Governor Roosevelt, who presided at the hearings on Walker's conduct of the mayor's office, had nothing to say.

Walker Race Doubtful
There was still considerable doubt as to whether Walker, conceding that he might wish to do so, could run for election in November. Legal experts at the city hall were understood to have agreed that a special election must be held in November to fill the vacancy.

This opinion held that the special election would include the offices of mayor, president of the board of aldermen, and alderman from the Ninth district. The aldermanic presidency was made vacant by the elevation of Joseph V. McKee, who held that post, to the mayoral chair. The Ninth district aldermanic vacancy has been created by the elevation of Dennis Mahon to McKee's old post.

No Lives Lost in Rio Grande Flood

Residents in Path of Waters Safeguarding Their Property

Eagle Pass, Texas — (P) — The crest of a Rio Grande flood that has done an unestimated amount of property damage but has taken no known toll of human life, rolled on down stream today with those in its path taking precautions to minimize its damage.

The boundary river between the United States and Mexico, swelled by torrential rains, inundated the business district of Eagle Pass and drove from their homes thousands of residents of Piedras Negras, the Mexican city across the border from here. Twelve persons were missing here but it was believed they had only been separated from their families in the confusion.

Far down the river, about Laredo, Texas, and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, farmers and ranchmen had driven livestock to high ground and measures were taken to protect irrigation equipment. People living in lowlands along the river left their homes.

Peecos, Nueces, Sabinal, and Devils rivers also were out of their banks. Considerable damage was reported to railroads and highways. The international bridge between Del Rio, Texas, and Villa Acuna, Mexico, was damaged.

A stretch of railway track west of Del Rio was washed out. Highway travel between San Antonio and several border towns was blocked. Livestock losses believed heavy in several counties.

FILES MURDER CHARGE
Pierce, Neb. — (P) — County Attorney E. D. Beech today filed a first degree murder charge against William O. Flanery of Milwaukee, Wis., for the slaying of D. P. Lowery, 26; Long Pine, Neb., athletic coach, northwest of here last Tuesday.

Week's Weather

Chicago — (P) — Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday Sept. 5: For the region of the Great Lakes: Mostly fair first part of week, except showers Monday extreme east portion; showers probable toward close; mostly moderate temperature.

Chicago Officials Blame Pop War for Bombing of Store

Chicago — (P) — Chicago, the police say, may be in the midst of a new kind of war—a pop war. They began an investigation last night of the activities of a carbonated beverage institute as a result of a bombing at a store operated by William Rudin in W. Madison-st.

Rudin told police his place was bombed because of his desire to purchase soda pop from a concern which is not a member of the institute. Dave Ostran, field agent for the institute, sought for questioning, surrendered at the detective bureau last night. David Benjamin, owner of the company from which Rudin recently purchased some pop, told police Ostran had warned him to join the institute. Ostran denied this, however.

After buying pop from the non-institute company Rudin said four hoodlums appeared and made him return the purchase.

Cashier Slugged By 2 Robbers at Readstown Bank

Bandits Lock Group in Vault and Flee with $2,000 in Auto

Readstown, Wis. — (P) — Two robbers held up the Bank of Readstown this morning, knocked Cashier C. V. Fitch unconscious with butts of pistols, locked customers in a vault and fled with $2,000.

The robbers sped away in a blue sedan with a black top. They headed in the direction of Viola. Witnesses said the first two digits of the Wisconsin license plates were 55-.

Miss Mabel Danielson was alone back of the cages of the little bank when the robbers entered. Transacting business with her were three customers.

The customers were headed back of the cages and, with Miss Danielson, were ordered to lie on the floor. Then Cashier Fitch entered, the bank, and was forced to lie with the rest.

One robber went into the open vault after instructing the other to shoot if anyone moved. He emerged with a bag of currency, but was not satisfied he had it all. He ordered Fitch to find the rest.

Fitch protested there was no more. Then the robber beat him with a pistol until he fell unconscious.

Miss Danielson and the customers were ordered into the vault and the robbers dragged the unconscious cashier in with them. They locked the door and fled.

Fitch regained consciousness in a few minutes and found a screw driver with which he managed to remove the vault door to release himself and other prisoners.

A quick check, officials said, indicated the loss was a little more than $2,000.

The robbers were described as stout men. One wore overalls. The other a brown suit.

Readstown is in Vernon-co.

Walsh, Dutra Ahead In Golf Tournament

St. Paul — (P) — Staggering par again with a brilliant 67, Olin Dutra, of California, took a four day lead over Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., today at half time in their 36 hole semi-final national professional golf championship struggle.

Spectacular iron shots carried Dutra over with his great round his second 67 of the tournament. He rushed out with a 32 four under par, to gain a one hole lead as Dudley fired back with a 33. Coming back, he drew away with regular par golf until the final green, where he speared a birdie four.

In an amazing rout, Frank Walsh of Chicago, formerly of Appleton, Wis., ended the morning round eight up on the defending champion, Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y. Walsh had a smart round of 71 but Creavy, wild with his irons and no little disturbed by his opponent's slow play, got a shaky 79.

CONFERS WITH DUCE
Rome — (P) — Ambassador Von Schubert of Germany, conferred with Premier Mussolini today on Germany's demand for the right to equality in armament. Together they went over the terms of the memorandum recently presented by Germany to France.

Hohenzollerns Cheered At Steel Helmet Confab

Berlin — (P) — Ringing in the ears of the imperial Hohenzollerns of Germany today were the tumultuous cheers of 20,000 members of the Steel Helmet (war veterans) organization, and the words:

Farmers Meet For Action on Strike Entry

Several Thousand in Conference at Marshfield To Debate Question

WANT HIGHER PRICES

Leaders of Holiday Movement Expect Badgers to Join in Strike

Marshfield — (P) — An intensely serious crowd of between 4,000 and 5,000 Wisconsin farmers converged in a huge open air meeting here today and applauded one of their number when he exclaimed "we'll solve our problems if necessary with bayonets, and I don't mean maybe."

The farmers were here to decide whether they should join with those of other states in the national farm holiday movement designed to withhold farm products from market until prices rise to a level with production costs.

Delegations poured into the city all morning from various parts of the state. Jackson-co. sent two trucks, each filled with some 25 farmers who had come 75 miles. Four or five busses more delegates from Colfax. The majority, however, came in their own automobiles.

The meeting was opened by Kenneth Hones, Colfax, chairman of the committee which called the gathering. He told the crowd ample opportunity would be given to hear those for and against the strike movement, but urged groups to select representatives to speak in their behalf.

Scorns Politicians
Arnold Gilberts, a Dunn-co. farmer prominently identified in the formation of a local holiday organization at Ladysmith a month ago, was the first speaker after the farmers had been welcomed by Mayor T. D. Hesko. He told his listeners they could place no faith in politicians, either state or national, to solve their problems.

"We have a lot of politicians running up and down the country telling us what is wrong with the farmers, but saying nothing," he said. "They say they want to reduce taxes, I'm not opposed to reducing taxes, but they don't know what's wrong."

"This country is not immune from destruction. If we keep on the way we have in recent years, God pity us."

"We'll solve our problems if necessary with bayonets and I don't mean maybe."

E. E. Kennedy, Kankakee, Ill., secretary of the National Farmers' union, presented a table of prices of farm products which he says Wisconsin farmers should receive.

Cowles Says Business Prospects are Brighter

Chicago — (P) — Business, in the opinion of Gardner Cowles, Sr., Des Moines newspaper publisher who succeeded Charles G. Dawes as director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, is improving.

Mr. Cowles, who stopped here yesterday enroute to Washington where he plans to remain until the corporation's work is completed, said "business has reached rock bottom and is now improving."

"I look for a moderate advance this fall," he added. "Every one will be happy if it continues to improve at the present rate."

Already, Mr. Cowles said, the corporation had done a great deal to loosen credit, especially in the south, where cotton prices have gone up.

Flier Seriously Hurt In 2nd Cleveland Crash

Cleveland, Ohio — (P) — Johnny Miller of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Al Wilson, Hollywood, Calif., today collided in front of the grand stands for the second major crash-up in two days at the National Air races.

Wilson flying his model of a 1910 pusher airplane, and Miller, in an autogyro, were staging a demonstration of the old and new in aviation.

At the Emergency hospital an ambulance physician said that Wilson, who was unconscious, appeared to have concussion of the brain and had sustained a fractured skull. His head was badly lacerated. He was taken to Berea hospital.

A Cleveland newspaper man, William Miller, was riding with Wilson and escaped unharmed.

President of Mexico Quits; Successor May Be Named by Evening

Holds Law Favoring Vets Is Not Constitutional

Oshkosh — (P) — Recent state legislation making special dispensation for World war veterans with 25 per cent or more disability, in exempting them from the usual license fee for peddling, has been declared unconstitutional in an opinion from Judge S. L. Spengler of the municipal court.

The court found Joseph Lofchie, Milwaukee veteran, guilty of violation of the Oshkosh ordinance requiring a license, and assessed a fine of $50 and costs or a choice of 30 days in jail.

Judge Spengler found the law discriminatory in nature. His opinion also referred to defense allegation that minimum fee payment to the city, fixed at $50, is invalid because confiscatory and prohibitory, but asserted the court could not rule on that point. He said he had not been presented with evidence to show whether or not the fee had been based on cost of enforcement and regulation.

Leaves Office

PASCUAL ORTIZ RUBIO

Reason Not Stated but Believed to be Failing Health
CABINET ALSO OUT
Immediate Consideration of Successor Is Indicated

Mexico City — (P) — President Pascual Ortiz Rubio sent his resignation to congress today, bringing a turbulent political crisis to a head after nearly three weeks of rumor and uncertainty. He disclosed his decision to his cabinet secretly at Chapultepec castle late yesterday, and the ministers also stepped aside to give congress and the president to be selected a free hand.

The president's resignation was entrusted to Gen. Juan Jose Rios, secretary of the interior, who announced early today the document would be handed to the thirty-fifth congress at its second session.

Ortiz Rubio stepped down a little over two and one-half years after he had been inaugurated to serve the remaining four years of the late Alvaro Obregon's six-year term.

Congress undoubtedly will consider the resignation immediately, and there is a possibility a successor may be chosen before night-fall today, although several legal technicalities must be straightened out before the post is filled.

Favorites For Office
Most prominently mentioned for the office is Gen. Abelardo L. Rodriguez, minister of war in Ortiz Rubio's cabinet, who came into prominence during the Escobar revolution two years ago. Others high in the running are Alberto J. Pani, Ortiz Rubio's minister of finance and veteran diplomat, and Gen. Joaquin Amaro, former secretary of war.

General Jose Rios' announcement just after midnight avoided all mention of the president's reason for resigning, but it was generally understood it was failing health. It was reported Ortiz Rubio wished to leave at once for Rochester, Minn., for medical treatment.

Neither did the minister of the interior mention the political misunderstandings of recent weeks and the rumors that have flooded the capital. It was merely disclosed that the president had communicated "the text of his resignation" to the cabinet for transmission to congress.

Ortiz Rubio ran into trouble before he had been president two hours, when he was fired on by a youthful zealot, and seriously wounded. He had been a compromise candidate of the dominant revolutionary party to succeed Obregon, who was elected in 1928 and assassinated before he could take office.

Revolt Crushed
Then came the abortive Escobar revolt with Generals Calles and Rodriguez taking the field to suppress the movement. They were successful, but the president had by then run into difficulties with his appointments. General Calles was twice called on to serve as secretary of war during Ortiz Rubio's term, and twice prevented a major crisis.

Then came what appeared to be a trivial dispute between Francisco Ortiz Rubio, the president's brother, and Vincent Estrada Cajal, chief of the federal district government over the General (Mexico City) hospital administration. That was in mid-August, and before Francisco Ortiz Rubio had resigned, as administrator of charities, many other resignations had been sent to the presidential palace.

Cajal asserted he had incurred the president's disfavor as arbitrator in a dispute in the hospital when he crossed Francisco. General Calles, chief of the revolutionary group, sought to remain aloof, but the tide of political pressure finally was reported to have forced

Offers 2 Children In Payment of $35 Debt for Furniture

Milwaukee — (P) — "I am rich in children and nothing else," Andrew Wisniewski, father of 11, told Judge Thaddeus Pruss today.

Then he started the court by offering two of the youngsters to pay a $35 debt.

"I love them, but if the furniture company must be paid it can have two of them," Wisniewski said.

The judge found himself unable to accept the offer, and he dismissed a contempt action growing out of a furniture company's suit to collect the debt.

Slay Woman and Wound 2 Persons

Three Desperadoes Sought In Eastern Oklahoma Hills

Muskogee, Okla. — (P) — Three desperadoes were hunted in eastern Oklahoma's hills today after terrorizing the Braggs Mountain vicinity with a series of crimes which left one woman dead, another near death, and a small boy wounded.

Firing a shower of bullets into an automobile which they sought to stop on a mountain road last night, the three killed Mrs. Susie Sharp, 46, of Braggs, perhaps fatally wounded her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Anderson, 26, of Long Beach, Calif., and shot Mrs. Anderson's 5-year-old son in one leg.

The three highwaymen escaped into the darkness after the shooting and a little later held up H. J. McQuowan of Muskogee. They pulled him from his car and sped away in it.

After wrecking McQuowan's machine in a ditch, the trio halted another car in which a patrol of boy scouts was returning to Muskogee, ejected the boys, took the car and continued their flight. A posse of officers lost trail of the car near Fort Gibson.

Owen Sharp, driver of the automobile in which his mother was killed, said the men opened fire before the car had reached them and continued shooting as he sped past.

His mother cried, "I'm shot," and slumped over dead, Sharp said. Owen Sharp escaped injury, as did two other occupants of the car, Ed Fulton and Kenneth Walker of Braggs.

Demands Compulsory Fire-Day Week in U. S.

Washington — (P) — Legal standardization to compel a five-day week was urged today by Miss Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau, in her annual Labor day statement.

Only through this method, under which "no employer could work his force of men and women beyond the schedule, and working time would cease to be a factor in barter and competition," she said, could a "real five day week" be achieved.

She said a spread of employment by shortening hours, but with an accompanying cut in the pay envelope would be futile.

Miss Anderson said adjustment of work hours to work methods through a five day week was "the only safe basis on which to reconstruct for the future."

HUNT CHECK FORGER
Milwaukee — (P) — A check forger, who disguises himself as a clergyman, was the object of a police search here today. James Murphy, a grocer, reported the man passed a worthless check for $10.

NO PAPER MONDAY
In accordance with its usual custom the Appleton Post-Crescent will not be issued on Monday, Sept. 5, Labor Day.

Steagall Ready To Renew Work For Banks Bill

Says Opposition to National Guaranty Law is Diminishing

Washington — (P) — Confident that opposition to a national guaranty bank deposit law is waning, Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee, plans to renew his efforts to secure action on such legislation at the coming session of congress.

"Big bankers, who fought passage of the Steagall bill last session gradually are turning toward the legislation," the Alabama Democrat said. "They realize more and more that the depositor demands that he be protected and they equally appreciate that no method other than guaranty deposits will meet the demand."

The house passed the Steagall bill setting up an initial $400,000,000 guaranty fund, but considerable opposition in the senate prevented its consideration last session.

"Eventually we will have some form of a national bank guaranty law," Steagall said. "The Reconstruction Finance corporation is easing the situation by making loans to banks, but it has a limit and this will be reached within a few months. It is not the fundamental solution to the problem, although it has put out a great number of fires."

Steagall's committee formulated the reconstruction corporation measure and the Alabama led the fight in the house for its enactment.

Steagall said that with about 2,200 banks failing in the past year, the federal government should be given closer supervision of national institutions in order to give protection to depositors and to make banking a more attractive capital investment.

"It is argued by some that the proposed guaranty plan would require well-managed banks to bear a portion of the losses from mismanagement in other banks," Steagall said. "This argument is too shallow and shortsighted to merit serious consideration. There can be no separation of the interests of banks. Any disaster coming upon one is a serious cause for the concern of all."

Stocks Again in Sharp Advances

Pre-Holiday Gains Indicate Business Up-turn After Labor Day

New York — (P) — Wall-st's belief that business would take a definite turn for the better after Labor day inspired another bustling advance in stock prices today.

With cotton and wheat higher, shares showed extreme gains of $1 to $5, and the Standard Statistics average of 90 issues was pushed to a new high for the year.

Several pivotal stocks, including U. S. Steel, General Motors and American Telephone, showed advance for the day.

The advance, brokers recalled, was in keeping with bull market tradition, for during 1928 and 1929 it frequently happened that prices skyrocketed on the eve of a holiday. Incidentally, it was just three years ago that averages of rail and industrial stocks were making their record high.

News of the day included further reports of expanding steel mill operations in the near future. There was also a rise of 19,331 cars in loadings of revenue freight for the week ended Aug. 27, a gain which the market viewed as satisfactory.

Steel, utility, chemical and merchandise shares were particularly strong, although rails lagged somewhat behind those groups.

Average Cost of Relief in State $20.13 Per Family

Madison — (P) — The average cost of relief in much of urban Wisconsin during July was $20.13 per family, according to a report of public relief agencies made public today.

The report shows that the public relief agencies gave relief to from 25.4 per cent to 3 per cent of the population in 14 cities and five counties.

The percentage of the population receiving relief in these units was as follows:

Appleton, 7.1; Ashland, 7.4; Beaver Dam, 7.4; Chippewa-co, 2; Dane-co, 6.8; Eau Claire, 7.2; Fond du Lac, 11; Kenosha, 25.4; LaCrosse-co, 10.4; Milwaukee-co, 18.3; Neenah, 6.4; Oshkosh, 12.8; Racine, 20.9; Rock-co, 10.7; Sheboygan, 13.3; Stevens Point, 16.7; Superior, 12.2; Wausau, 9.3.

For these counties and cities a total of 42,558 families and 5,638 single men and women were given relief in July. A total of $900,540 was expended.

World Speed Record Made By Doolittle

Flier Travels at 292.801 Miles an Hour in Cleveland Race

Cleveland.—(P)—Major James H. Doolittle set a new world speed mark of 292.801 miles an hour over the three kilometer course here today at the National Air races.

Doolittle's speed was more than 14 miles an hour faster than the previous world mark of 278.48 set in 1924 by Warrant Officer Bonnet in France.

The former army flier carried a barograph to make his record official.

After breaking the record he continued during the course and flashed past the pylons, his plane a blur in the blue haze, on the fifth lap at 306 miles an hour.

His plane looped like a fat red headed bug as it flattened into the distance.

A strong wind was blowing and the air was bumpy, but the major held his plane close to the ground. The timers averaged his second, third, fourth and fifth laps at 292.87 miles an hour. The rules provide that any four consecutive laps may be used to determine the record.

This average is almost 18 miles an hour faster than the old record. The barograph and timers official records must be calibrated by the government bureau of standards, at Washington, D. C. and then approved by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, world governing body of competitive aviation events, before the record is declared official.

Two Pilots Injured

Two pilots hurt yesterday when their planes locked wings in the air and crashed, continued in serious condition early today, but doctors said they would recover. The victims were Paul S. Bloom of Davenport, Iowa, and William Warrick of Cleveland.

They were speeding 100 miles an hour, about 50 feet above the ground, and were rounding a pylon before the gaze of thousands of spectators, when the accident occurred. Warrick suffered a concussion of the brain and Bloom, similarly injured, but not so seriously.

Almost as spectacular as the crash of the two planes, was a parachute jump by Mrs. Marie McGillin, 25-year-old mother, from a height of 20,800 feet—a new unofficial world's record for women.

"That was my 110th jump—and my last," Mrs. McGillin said as she received congratulations and applause. "There are better ways to earn a living for my child," she added. Mrs. McGillin plans to become an airplane pilot and has nearly completed her training.

The principal event on today's program was a free-for-all race for planes with motors of 1,000 cubic inches displacement, 10 laps over a five-mile course. The entries were the Coblach of Detroit, Ray Moore of Alameda, Calif., Wedell, Heald, Lewis Bowen of Omaha, Neb., and Roscoe Turner of Los Angeles.

Fight Lake Cargo Coal Rate Boost

Retail Dealers Association Appeals for Federal Aid

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington.—Shipper and railroad conferences having failed to afford relief, the Northwestern Retailers' association is appealing for federal aid in reversing the imposition of a double increase of emergency charges on lake cargo coal moving over Lake Michigan and Superior docks destined for Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The Interstate Commerce Commission prescribed an emergency charge of six cents per net ton on coal in the fifteen per cent freight rate increase case but left the adjustment of such a charge on lake coal to the shippers and railroads. Now the I. C. C. to settle the problem definitely, stating that a charge of nine cents per net ton is being levied on ex-lake coal to Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, and the Dakotas.

Eastern lines add the six cent charge to the tariffs for the haul from the mines to the lower lake ports and western roads add an additional three or six cents for the haul from the westbank lake docks. Attempts to have the eastern and western carriers divide one emergency charge have failed, according to the Association.

Not only does this double increase impose an unfair burden on the Association's member organizations in the midwest states, but it also disarranges rate relationships between lake coal and all rail coal from Illinois and Indiana mines, which take only one emergency charge, the Association adds.

The Association has 41 member organizations in Wisconsin. It asks reparation for past double charges as well as settlement of the problem for the future.

JIMMY DOOLITTLE

Desert Capital Over Labor Day

Few Officials to Remain in Washington During Holiday Period

Washington.—(P)—This Labor day weekend finds the capital virtually abandoned by the top ranks of federal officialdom.

President Hoover was at his Rapidan camp in Virginia for one of his longest rests in recent months. He arrived last night after driving through a heavy rainstorm that served to break the extreme heat wave of the past week.

Here at their desks were only two of the president's cabinet and one of these officers planned to leave. Postmaster General Brown said he would remain but Secretary Doak of the labor department will go to Syracuse, N. Y., for a Labor day speech.

Secretary Wilbur is expected back tomorrow from a western trip and probably will spend the holiday catching up with accumulated correspondence. Vice President Curtis still was visiting his daughter near Providence, R. I.

The thunderstorm which made mountain roads dangerously slippery during the president's trip was a possible forerunner of many like showers over the weekend. Forecasts indicated showers generally today and tomorrow, with Monday's weather still in doubt.

Secretary Stimson was at his country home at Huntington, Long Island. Attorney General Mitchell was vacationing nearby. Secretary Mills was in Saratoga, N. Y., Secretary Quinn in Maine and Secretary Adams in Cambridge, Mass.

Secretary Hurley rested over the weekend at his country home near Leesburg, Va., while Secretary Hyde was speaking in Shenandoah, Iowa.

It Is Said--

That political bull sessions on the street corners Friday morning were as numerous as the day after election. Precipitated by Thursday night's speech by LaFollette, the Progressive and Stalwart programs took a fine-tooth combing that bid fair to settle all the state's problems of taxation, highways, unemployment, banks, utilities and most everything else. None of the arguments were lukewarm, and in some cases, where the street corner meeting, grew to any appreciable size, the session got rather energetic.

That youngsters playing at Pierce park while political speeches are being made are causing a great deal of annoyance. Between playing on the swings, running up and down the pavilion, and having water fights by the pump, the children succeed in making general nuisances of themselves.

That Friday was a hectic day for rug salesmen. Because of the rug swindle Thursday, everyone in town is casting suspicious eyes at every one who looks or acts like a rug salesman, and in several cases the agent's work was held up until he could give an account of himself to the police.

That the cool afternoons of the past few days are beginning to turn the attention of youngsters to football and away from baseball. In vacant lots and on playgrounds throughout the city the youngsters have started gathering and practicing for organization of their teams.

Farm Club Presents 3 Act Rural Comedy

The play "Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," a three act rural comedy was presented by the Fairview 4-H club at a recent meeting.

The cast was Mrs. Briggs, Marian Ruwoldt; her family: Ralph, Maynard Nelson, Jimmy, Jerome, Retler, Tommy, Milo Retler, Melissa, Mildred Ruwoldt; Silas Green, a near relative, Giles Retler; Mr. Lee, a wealthy neighbor, Walter Ruwoldt; Virginia, his daughter, Florence Retler; Daisy Thornton, her friend, Mabel Kluge; Mrs. O'Connor, Irene Sigl; Mandy Bates, Lora Kluge.

Songs were sung by Mabel Kluge, Florence Retler, Marian Ruwoldt, Irene Sigl, Lora Kluge, and Mildred Ruwoldt at the piano.

Two recitations were given, "The Fuzzled Dutchman," by August Kluge, and "A Brand New Girl," by John Kluge.

Several piano selections were played by Miss Adela Peters.

Gustav A. Sell, county agricultural agent, gave a brief talk on "The Object of 4-H Club Work."

"Y" BOYS ON HIKE

A group of 14 boys, members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., went on a hike yesterday to a woods in the town of Buchanan.

The boys, under direction of C. C. Bailey, returned home about mid-afternoon.

Heavy Exhibit List Reported At County Fair

With Fair Weather Prevailing, Officials Expect Record Crowd

BY W. F. WINSEY

Hortonville.—A clear sky, and an invigorating breeze fanning the grounds Friday, were accepted by the management of the Outagamie-co Fair as prognostications of fine weather during the fair. Cheered up by the prospects, the superintendent, exhibitors, and hundreds of helpers worked from early in the forenoon to late in the afternoon placing exhibits, so as to be ready to entertain visitors Saturday and Sunday. One of the busiest spots on the grounds was the Exhibition building, where large numbers of women were setting up needlework, art, canned goods and baked delicacies, and where 25 4-H Club girls were arranging displays in booths. Another busy spot was the club building where boys were grouping over 100 calves for the club contest.

John Dobberstein, superintendent of the cattle department, is swamped with animals. All the stalls are filled and a long row of cattle is staked out along a fence.

This season, for the first time, Charles Schultz, superintendent of grains, fruits and vegetables was forced to use the outside wall of the building for setting up the overflow.

Mrs. L. I. Steffen, superintendent, found it difficult to make room for a greatly increased list of flowers.

Mrs. Oscar Schultz, superintendent, was at a loss to find places for a large number of art exhibits.

Merton Fulmer, superintendent, packed the new poultry building with birds of every kind.

Ernest W. Fessling, superintendent, gave up some of his hog pens to cattle men to be used as stalls.

Club Exhibits Popular

The exhibits of the 4-H Club boys is the most popular in the livestock department if for no other reason than that the boys and their calves are products of the homes and farms of Outagamie-co. The boys are the best product of the homes and calves are the best products of the best herds of the county.

The booths of the 4-H club girls are equal to the exhibit of the boys. The articles in the booths are evidences of natural ability and training and the arrangement shows taste and a knowledge of the value of harmony. The booths are in the Exhibition building.

The names of the clubs that set up booths and of the local leaders of the clubs follows:

Happy Bakers and Kanny Kanners, Hortonville, Mrs. Steve Ott, local leader.

Sewing Pals; 4-H Girl's Club, Hortonville, Norma Magadan, local leader.

Pleasant Hills Canning Club, town of Ellington, Alfred Handsche, local leader.

Happy Hour 4-H Club, Shiocton, Alice Sommerfield, local leader.

Wide Awake Forward 4-H Club, Greenville, Thrift Exhibit, Mrs. John Schoettler, local leader.

Wide Awake Forward 4-H Club, Greenville, Infant's Layette booth, Mrs. John Schoettler, local leader.

Booth of 4-H Boys' Handicraft Club, Hortonville, Harry Steffen, local leader.

In the Farm Products' building, the Smith-Hughes boys of the Shiocton high school, town of Boonville and Black Creek, have set a fine agricultural exhibit in a large booth.

Oshkosh Abandons Community Fund

Nine Organizations Must Raise Own Funds or Cease Activity

Oshkosh.—(P)—No community welfare fund for charitable purposes will be raised in Oshkosh this fall for the coming year, it was announced Friday by the executive committee of the Oshkosh Community Fund organization.

The committee announced that unemployment relief and charity have become a grave emergency that can only be adequately met by state, county and municipal governments. Private solicitation of charity funds, through the community chest organization, will be discontinued for this year, or until such a time as economic conditions are on a more permanent basis.

The fiscal year for the Oshkosh community fund, raised last fall, will be concluded Nov. 1. After that time, nine organizations now sharing in the charity funds will have to provide for their own continuance, or else cease activity.

The suggestion is that all relief and charitable work in Oshkosh be handled during the present emergency by the city and county authorities, utilizing appropriations and funds secured through taxation.

It is recommended that the municipal relief agencies should be affiliated with the various private organizations and agencies, to take advantage of their years of experience and training in the work.

Nelson Campaigning In Northern Section

C. C. Nelson, Appleton, Republican candidate for congress, addressed a crowd of 150 persons in Crivitz Thursday evening in his campaign through the northern section of the district. Thursday morning he talked to G. O. P. workers in Marinette and he also made short talks in Middle Inlet and Fond du Lac.

He spoke at a meeting in Niagara Friday. Saturday Mr. Nelson was to talk at Florence, Long Lake and Tipler in Florence-co.

U. S. Geographic Board Ends Dispute on Names

Washington.—(P)—A victory for the common people, the name of the bay off Dade-co., Florida, is officially "Dumbfounding bay."

The United States Geographic board, final authority on geographic names, has decided, and the coast and geodetic survey which thought it should be "Dumbfounding bay," bowed in acquiescence.

Yet it might have been "Dumbfounding bay" originally. For it seems likely that surprise at its discovery was more a cause for the name than the finding there as tradition has it, of a child that was not only a founding but dumb.

The natives thereabouts, however, would call it "Dumbfounding," and local usage has more weight with the board, generally speaking, than any other consideration.

Many nomenclature disputes still remain to be settled, covering not only the United States but the world at large. The board is issuing soon a report on the correct American spelling of geographic foreign names, and those who don't follow it will be wrong. A special committee headed by S. W. Boggs, state department geographer, worked on it for four years.

The board is largely a bystander, if a keenly interested one, in a California nomenclature question. A good many citizens of Oleta want the postoffice department to change the name to the more expressive, if less euphonious one, of Fiddletown.

Once it was the latter, witness Bret Harte's "An Episode of Fiddletown," but in 1878 Colonel Furlington, an influential citizen of the town, Fiddletown, went to San Francisco and registered at a hotel. Some wag glanced over his shoulder and remarked: "Fiddleticks."

Highly mortified, the colonel went home and changed the name to Oleta. At least, that is the story told by affidavits on file in the postoffice department.

The board gives the department a good deal of leeway about names since the latter abhors duplications, having had enough trouble already with the flock of Madisons, Washingtons, Oxfords, Friendships and so on.

The department is represented on the board, as is every other department vitally interested in names and map making. Incidentally, the members serve without pay. The research and correspondence are taken care of by John J. Cameron, executive secretary, and an assistant.

Cameron has absorbed a lot of history at his job. "Some names are obvious," he said. "But others—for instance, Temperance River in Minnesota. You might think a prohibition advocate named that but no. Most streams thereabouts have a deposit of gravel and sand at the mouth—bar. Temperance river had none."

Summer Building Is Less This Year

Six Months' Total Valued at Only $266,490, Inspector Says

Building in Appleton during the six summer months this year fell far below the same period of 1931, records in the office of John N. Welland, building inspector, reveal.

The six month total, from March to September, this year, was $266,490, compared to $672,932 last year.

New residences this summer numbered 38, valued at $147,930, compared to 55 last summer, which were evaluated at $266,800. The cost of new garages erected from March to September this year was $9,445, and during the same period last year, $19,582.

May and June were the largest building months this summer, while last year March and August had the largest totals. May, with a total of $63,695, was the largest month this summer, while April, with $23,015, was the smallest. Last summer's highest total, $241,325, occurred in August, and the smallest, $45,900, in July.

Social Hygiene Worker To Talk to Students

V. Warner, a social hygiene worker with the United States Public Health service and the Wisconsin State Board of health, will be in Outagamie-co for a series of talks to boys on Sept. 7, 8, and 9, according to word received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse. Mr. Warner will give talks at schools at Hortonville, Bear Creek, Black Creek and Combined Locks.

Heinemann Attends DePere Water Event

Judge Fred V. Heinemann, Appleton, commodore of the Fox River Valley Boat association, was one of officials who attended the water carnival on the Fox river at DePere Friday. Judge Heinemann, Mrs. Heinemann and son, have been spending several days on Green Bay aboard his yacht, Nephawin.

Labor Stronger Today Than Ever, Champion Says

Senator Wagner Urges Government to Speed up Relief Work

New York.—Although millions of men are out of work and are facing the threat of a lean and difficult winter, Labor Day this year will mark one of the most encouraging periods in the history of organized labor.

That is the belief of Robert F. Wagner, Democratic Senator from New York who for four years has been battling for social legislation to help both the employee and the jobless. The $3,800,000,000 relief bill passed by the last Congress bears his name, and the stamp of his convictions as a friend of labor.

He finds that this year, as never before, the problems and policies of labor have been crystallized into definite purpose and action. More important still, labor has found its strength, has discovered that it holds the power for constructive accomplishment; has already begun to wield that power for its own benefit.

"Without the support of organized labor," said Senator Wagner flatly, "the Federal relief bill never would have been passed. That shows what labor can do."

"Now it should begin a determined drive for unemployment insurance. And should insist upon such a management of industry that every man will have an opportunity to earn a living. The day is not far off when the right to work will be considered as inalienable as the right to live."

Wagner believes that the only alternative to a "very serious winter" is speedy distribution of the huge sums made available for construction and relief by the Wagner bill.

"If the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will act at once," he continued, "I am confident that by the beginning of winter we can have put two million persons back at work. And because of the increased buying and the partial restoration of confidence which will result, I believe an additional two million will be re-employed a couple of months later."

As the forces of Republicans and Democrats are being mobilized for the drive that will place either Herbert Hoover or Franklin D. Roosevelt in the White House, this Senator's son who fought his way to national prominence stands out as a pivotal figure. On September 20 he faces the primary which will decide whether New York will give him the chance to return to the Senate.

And the New York election will, of course, greatly affect the Roosevelt cause.

Wagner is elated because so many of the ideas he had sponsored are being accepted. A short, stocky man, he quickly impresses with his quick understanding and his outlook upon the problems confronting the United States at this critical time.

"Some say I'm a radical and some say I'm a socialist," he said. "I do not care. I'm not afraid of words. My belief is that government has to step in to help its people, to feed the hungry and starving and create employment for the unemployed. Some say I have tried to tear down the Constitution, but I have not. The welfare clause in it, if rightly interpreted, takes care of that. I believe in government for the whole people and in an emergency like this they must not be overlooked. Helping the big banks and railroads is not enough."

"There must be a re-distribution of wealth, and anything I can do I will do. It's pure bunk that the government cannot enter business to help its people. Where there is injustice, it is the duty of the government to right that injustice, and that involves entering business, then it must be done."

Up From the Bottom

You understand that slant when you know his story. When little more than eight years old he came to New York from Germany with his parents. Poor immigrants, they settled on the East Side where they lived in a basement and the senior Wagner worked as a janitor.

Young Robert picked up a little English, fought with the janitor's son next door, went to school and sold papers in his spare time. An older brother got a job as a cook in a club and soon Robert was employed there as a hall boy.

A good student, he eventually graduated from grammar school, then high school and entered City College. There he worked his way through by tutoring and doing odd jobs, despite the frequent urging of his father to quit college and go to work.

But he didn't quit. He graduated as valedictorian of his class and subsequently he finished at New York Law School and was admitted to the bar. Entering politics as a speaker in a campaign, he was soon elected to the Assembly, then to the State Senate and finally Lieutenant-Governor. He declined a nomination for governor. His greatest ambition was realized when he was appointed to the state Supreme Court. He ran for the Senate to help Al Smith, then running for governor. Beating the popular Jimmy Wadsworth established him.

"And I can't forget what this country has done for me," he says with a little catch in his voice.

His early struggles undoubtedly help to explain why, in 1928, he fathered bills in Congress to cope with unemployment.

He favors public control of utilities, with government ownership and leasing to utilities companies. He favors spending billions for self-supporting public construction to give millions work—expenditures that bear fruit and pay for themselves. He favors compulsory unemployment insurance, with employer and employee contributing. But these are only specific cases in a broad general political philosophy.

Duck Season Twice as Long This Year as Last

Wisconsin duck hunters are assured a season twice as long this year as last year by the action of the state conservation commission in making the state regulations conform with the federal biological survey restrictions for the northern districts in the United States, according to word received by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, by Paul

D. Kelleter, conservation director. Hunting licenses were placed on sale in Appleton last week by Mr. Hantschel.

The season for wild ducks, geese, brant, coot, snipe, rails, gallinules will open throughout Wisconsin at noon Oct. 1 and will extend to Nov. 30, every day except Wednesdays, upon which no duck or geese shooting is permitted under Wisconsin statutes.

In addition to the restrictions on length of season, it is further ordered, by the conservation commission that to conserve certain species there will be no open season on ruddy ducks, or buffleheads, and that the daily bag limit of canvasbacks, redheads, bluebills, ringneck ducks, blue winged and green winged teal, gadwalls and shovellers shall not contain more than 10 in the aggregate of these species. Also the daily bag limit on wild geese and brant is reduced from five to four.

Waterfowl seasons throughout the United States this year are limited to two months in accordance with the amendment to the federal migratory bird treaty act approved by the president. The restrictions postponing the opening day of the season to noon, Oct. 1, and closing the season Nov. 30, include wild ducks, geese, brant, coot and snipe. Acting on its own authority the conservation commission abridged the seasons on rails and gallinules to make them conform to the federal restrictions for other species of waterfowl.

There was general dissatisfaction in Wisconsin last year because the season was limited to the month of October. The mild fall meant that the northern flights did not reach Wisconsin during the open season and Wisconsin duckhunters were dissatisfied. The two month season this year is expected to give much better shooting.

However, despite the short season last year, there were 321,060 ducks and 755 geese killed.

THIS IS A WARNING FROM THE CHIEF OF POLICE

To The Housewives and Citizens of Appleton:

BEWARE — of thieves posing as solicitors, salesmen, or inspectors. STRANGERS seeking admittance to premises as salesmen, solicitors or inspectors SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEIR CREDENTIALS HAVE BEEN CHECKED UP AND VERIFIED THRU DEPENDABLE LOCAL FIRMS OR PERSONS.

In many cases — strangers without reliable credentials are thieves or "locators" for professional criminals and according to police records LACK CAUTION by the householders in admitting such strangers has often resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

DO NOT PAY CASH IN ADVANCE to strangers on any merchandise — in many cases the customer has never received anything for the cash-in-advance payment — nor has any refund been made of the initial deposit. DO NOT CASH CHECKS FOR STRANGERS — nor issue a check to a stranger as a down payment on an order — in a number of cases these checks have been "altered" and cashed by a third or innocent party — and in other cases when the customer did not receive the merchandise payment was stopped on the check — and again an innocent party cashing the check was the loser.

IT'S Better To Be SAFE than sorry — be sure YOU KNOW WHO THE PEDDLER IS AT YOUR DOOR —

In case you are suspicious of a Peddler at your door — phone the Police Department at Once — Phone No. 181 as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times.

Citizens NEED NOT be afraid of offending the honest solicitor salesman or inspector representing a LOCAL FIRM — as THEY HAVE THEIR CREDENTIALS WITH THEM and welcome investigation — that is why they are required to carry credentials.

CHARGE RUG SALESMAN DIDN'T HAVE LICENSE
John Dohearty, an itinerant rug peddler, who gives his address as Fort Worth, Texas, was being held at the police station this morning pending his arraignment in municipal court this afternoon on a charge of peddling without a license. Dohearty was arrested on Washington-st this morning by Police Chief George T. Prim and Officer Albert Deltgen, after a citizen had called the station and complained of the peddler's selling attempts.

What The American Demands for his dollar is SERVICE

Mrs. Housewife---Yes, Mr. Business Man too---Let's
LOOK AT the FACTS As They Really Are---
What Service Does the Peddler Render to You for Your Dollar as compared to the Appleton Business Man?

THE PEDDLER OR DOOR BELL RINGER OFFERS

In almost every instance---you buy from small size sample swatches or pictures---and trust to luck, after waiting days---sometimes weeks---that your purchase IF Received, will prove satisfactory.

Sometimes thru high-pressure-methods you are induced to pay a CASH DEPOSIT, on an order of this bootleg-merchandise, later finding financial conditions do not permit you to complete the contract---Who Loses? Do You Get Back Your Cash Deposit???

You are induced to buy in excess of your needs---thru a cleverly prepared sales talk, on a saving of small consequence to be made thru ordering in quantity lots. The amount of the immediate cash deposit seems small and you are tricked into a larger purchase. Many times "Something Free" is offered you as BAIT to secure your larger order.

The Peddlers, with their unknown merchandise---questionable bargains and unethical methods of selling can well be classed as bootleggers of merchandise. Every time you turn over a dollar to a door-to-door canvasser you are speculating on the return you will get for your money. Have you ever stopped to THINK of the possibility of these Peddlers as carriers of DIRT or DISEASE?

Yes Even In The Busy Office Will Be Found The Persistent Pest who infringes on the employer's time. Haven't you had one of those breezy salesmen breeze into your office---and ask for a few minutes of your employer's time (only not always in such a polite manner)---and then he proceeds to high pressure you into an order---and in many cases you place an order to rid yourself of the Pest. This class of Professional Peddler is a slicker and can talk himself into a sale by making indefinite promises as to deliveries on orders, as well as to exaggerate, without any effort the quality of the article he is selling. You see him Only today.

Your Merchant Offers You merchandise---which you can examine at the time of purchase---yes, you can TAKE IT WITH YOU NOW---Why WAIT? ---There is no room for uncertainty. And after you get home and should you find your purchase not exactly what you expected you can exchange it with your merchant, and you are NOT required to wait ten days or two weeks. He has his stock of goods in Your City for immediate SERVICE.

Your Merchant can not afford to oversell you thru high pressure methods---because he is depending upon you for your future patronage. He expects to stay. The peddler may never see you again---in fact in many cases he hopes he won't.

Your Merchant offers his Personal Friendship and Acquaintance---which are factors in your business relation that can not be contracted with any long distance manufacturer.

Play Safe See What You Are Buying
---beware of the Special Authorized Representative who tells you He is the ONLY ONE selling his line who is allowed to collect in full the cash on your order.

Do Not Confuse Representatives of Local Institutions
with the Itinerant Peddler---for they represent legitimate business houses who are furnishing employment to local people, pay local taxes, and are entitled to an interview. Protect yourself! Ask the man who calls at your house for credentials from local institutions.

Women Racers Confuses Officials at Cleveland

Cleveland—(P)—Official timers at the national air races were about decided today that the next time a woman's handicap dash is on the program they had best take to a balloon if they wanted to see it.

The disadvantage of an ordinary judge's stand was demonstrated yesterday in the Amelia Earhart trophy race.

Pilots of the course had been pointed out, but once in the air several of the women became confused by the variety of markers dotting the landscape and began darting hither and yon.

The first and slowest plane started bravely for the distant checkered tower of the three and a half mile course, then wavered and turned cross country. Others got off on a five mile course, and one even turned a lap on a ten-mile course.

One of the entries seemed to think better of it after looking over the situation and settled back to earth to watch the fun.

Timing officials looked on helplessly and wished for the biggest policeman's whistle ever made.

But when one plane zoomed aloft as if starting on a race for altitude and yet another appeared from behind the grandstand, the official announcer gave it up as hopeless.

"Whatever else may be said about this race, it is certainly the most interesting yet," he said.

However, Miss Florence Klingensmith of Minneapolis, Minn., was one of the few who knew where they were going and why. She gave a professional bank to her turns and won.

But even Miss Klingensmith made two extra laps before officials could flag her to the ground. Afterward, she explained she was unable to see the lap number at the home pylon and "just wanted to make sure."

When it was all over, Edith Foltz of Portland, Ore., was awarded second place; Helen Richey of Pittsburgh, third; Mary Sansom of Hartford, Conn., fourth; Helen MacCloskey of Pittsburgh, fifth and Mrs. Rae Tradere of Pittsburgh, sixth.

Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam awarded the trophy, which she explained, "I 'wangled' from my husband."

Municipal Jury Awards Farmer $200 Damages
A jury in municipal court yesterday afternoon awarded damages of $150 to George Iverson, town of Oneida, in his suit for damages of $2,000 against Arthur Hesgle, town of Seymour. The jury retired at noon and returned with a verdict at 4 o'clock. The case was started before Judge Theodore Berg Thursday morning. Iverson asked damages and Hesgle counterclaimed for $500 damages over operation of a farm owned by Hesgle and operated by Iverson.

Jailed for 3 Days for Disorderly Conduct
George Uebelacker, 427 S. Memorial-dr., was sentenced to the county jail for three days by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct. He was unable to pay a fine of $5 and costs. Uebelacker was arrested at his home last night by Officers Walter Hendricks and Edward Court on complaint of his wife.

SEEK EMBEZZLER
Police here have been asked to watch for George Saunders, 34, who is wanted in Smyrna, Del., on a charge of embezzlement. The man, it is thought, is somewhere in the middle west. Saunders is about five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 152 pounds and has dark brown hair and medium complexion. A reward of $500 is offered for his apprehension.

SPEEDER IS FINED
Edward Wegner, 929 W. Lawrence-st., was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty of speeding. He was arrested yesterday by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, for driving 46 miles an hour on N. Oneida-st.

MEETING POSTPONED
The meeting of the promotion committee of the chamber of commerce was postponed yesterday afternoon. It was the second postponement in the past two weeks.

Nine Probate Cases Listed for Hearing
Nine probate cases are listed for hearing at a regular term of Outagamie-co. court at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning before Judge Fred V. Heinemann at the court-house. Cases on the calendar include: Hearing on proof of will in the estate of Augusta Schlen; hearing on administration in the estate of Herman Leeper; hearing on descent of lands in the estate of Lawrence McDaniel; hearing on claims in the estate of Ida M. Foster and A. G. Van Wyke; hearing on final account in the estate of Fred E. Bachman, George Diemel, Marie Goode and Heinrich Wasmund.

him to agree to Ortiz Rubio's departure, although he was very unwilling to consider a change at first.

Constitutional Issue
A "joker" in the constitution concerning presidential resignations was discovered today, a factor which may bring the supreme court into the picture before a new president can be chosen definitely.

The constitution specifies that, in the event a presidential steps out during the first two years of his term, a provisional president shall be elected by congress, and a presidential election called at the same time. If such a resignation should come during the last two years, a substitute president to fill out the term would be chosen.

But the constitution also placed a presidential term at six years, leaving a two-year blank space. Ortiz Rubio is in his third year, so it is not possible for laymen to figure out whether an election is in the offing.

In any event, when the president's successor takes office, three presidents will have served Mexico within less than half the normal six-year presidential term. Emilio Portes Gil served 15 months provisionally, until Ortiz Rubio was inaugurated.

Ortiz Rubio is an engineer by profession, but had served in the Mexican diplomatic corps for some time before becoming chief executive.

Building Permits
Two building permits were issued Friday by John N. Welland, building inspector. They were granted to Robert Griesbach, 1413 W. Summerst, residence, cost $2,500; and Anton Griesbach, 1422 W. Summerst, residence, cost $2,500.

RETURN FROM OLYMPICS
The Misses Margaret and Hazel Jansen, Madison-st., and Miss Emily Hartman, Green Bay, returned from an extended motor trip through the west. They visited the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles, and motored through the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone National park and the Yosemite valley.

REMODEL BUILDING
The building at 525 W. College-ave owned by Henry Gillette is being remodeled into a ballroom, where public dances will be held. It is expected that improvements, which will cost about $1,000, will be completed by Oct. 1. E. W. Johnson and Mr. Gillette will manage the place.

COMMITTEE MEETS
The finance committee met at city hall Friday afternoon. Bills to be presented at the next meeting of the common council were approved.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Application for a marriage license was made today at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, by Otto Hoppe and Marie Brueggemann, Appleton.

PICNIC SCHEDULED
A picnic and chicken dinner will be held at St. Sebastian's hall at Isar Sunday, Sept. 18. The hall is located on County Trunk V, north-east of Seymour.

Mrs. J. P. McCold and family of Kamloops, B. C., Canada, who have been visiting Mrs. McCold's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hayes, left for their home Thursday.

Says Stalwarts Slandering State With Accusations

Governor LaFollette Denies Industry is Moving Elsewhere

By The Associated Press
Governor Philip F. LaFollette told an audience at Manitowish last night that stalwart Republicans are deliberately slandering the state when they say industry is moving out of Wisconsin.

The governor said statistics prove that under Progressive management industry and manufacturing have made greater progress in Wisconsin than in competing states.

Declaring that industry will thrive as long as the purchasing power of the great mass of people is kept intact, Governor LaFollette pointed to reductions in taxes and utility rates as factors which have enhanced the ability of Wisconsin residents to purchase the products of the factory.

"In the University of Wisconsin bulletin on Wisconsin industry and in the Wisconsin tax system," he said, "Wisconsin and competing states are rated in 30 different tests of industrial progress, and Wisconsin was given first rank, ahead of New York, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Minnesota."

"Similarly, the study published in 1931 by Brookmire's Investors' service of New York, on incomes by states, shows that from 1925 to 1930 Wisconsin had the largest income in the total income of its people in any of these states."

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, campaigning in behalf of the Progressive ticket, assured an audience at Eau Claire last night that for every promise made in the last campaign by his brother, Governor LaFollette, legislation was introduced and "if it was not enacted into law it was because stalwarts in both houses killed it."

Hits Misrepresentation
Former Gov. Walter K. Kilmer departed from the text of his prepared address at Marinette last night and strongly denounced what he termed misrepresentation of his attitude toward a state police force.

Kilmer described as "ridiculous" the boasts made by Progressives two years ago that election of Governor LaFollette would drive crime out of Wisconsin. Instead, he said, crime has increased.

"The governor's denunciation of a million dollar state police force is more shamming," he said, "I never advocated such a force or such an expenditure. He is wantonly neglectful and unthinking in refusing to see the need for an inexpensive co-ordination of the efforts of sheriffs through use of radio and a centralized crime information bureau."

L. E. Bancroft, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, told an audience at Oshkosh that "efforts of the LaFollette faction to bolster up the tottering Capital City bank last year with money taken from the teachers' retirement fund" reminded him of a similar occurrence under a previous Progressive administration.

Bancroft said that under Gov. John J. Elaine a Progressive-coalition annuity board invested $700,000 of the teachers' fund in the Wisconsin Mortgage and Loan company.

"That company later blew up with losses of $7,000,000 and the bonds held by the teachers for their money have paid no dividends," Bancroft said.

Births
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vandehay, Kimberly, Wednesday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Schilling, Little Chute, Friday.

A daughter was born at the home Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gauerke, 1931 N. Oneida-st.

A son was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Theron Kohl, 814 W. Brewster-st at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Work is Held up on Bridge Guard Rail

Work on the construction of the guard rail over the new John-Cat canal bridge has been ordered held up by the Wisconsin Public Service commission until the city can obtain a lawful exemption from a commission ruling.

The proximity of the canal bridge and the Northwestern switch track into the Interlake Pulp and Paper company mill has put the city in a quandary. According to state regulations, the guard rail should be six feet from the rail, in order to give clearance for brakemen. However, if it is built six feet away from the rail there will be four and a half feet of open space over the canal which will not be protected by a guard rail.

It is believed that the city will be given permission to build rail up to one and one-half feet of the tracks, inasmuch as the canal side of the tracks is never used by brakemen anyway.

4 Persons Injured When Car Crashes
Machine Demolished When It Hits Poles and Then Tips Over
Four persons were injured, none seriously, when a car driven by Alex Serwe, 36, 338 W. Water-st, ran off the road into the ditch on the Freedom-rd about a mile north of Calmes corner about 12:30 this morning. The machine smashed into a pole, which was broken off, and then tipped over. The injured are: Mr. Serwe, lacerated right hand, bruised about face; Floyd Reck, 26, 538 W. Atlantic-st, scratched about hands and face; Miss Mable Crowe, 20, 912 E. Winnebago-st, bruises about head and shock; and Miss Victoria Conjurki, 24, 402 W. Wisconsin-ave, lacerated right hand, bruises about head and hips.

After the crash the four people were brought to St. Elizabeth hospital by Woodrow Riehl and Gordon Bergsbaken, route 2, Appleton. Serwe and Miss Conjurki remained at the hospital until today. Serwe's car was demolished.

Rug Salesman Fined $5; Didn't Have License
John Dohearty, an itinerant rug peddler, who gave his address as Fort Worth, Texas, was fined $5 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of peddling without a license. He paid the fine. Dohearty was arrested yesterday morning by Police Chief George T. Prim after a resident on Washington-st had called the station and made a complaint.

Thursday police were informed by Charles Krueger, 1504 N. Superior-st, that he had paid $80 to two rug salesmen who offered him four Oriental rugs at that price. He claims the rugs he got are fakes.

Man Denies Driving Car Without Proper Permit
John Wojkiewicz, Briarton, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning on a charge of operating a car without a proper license. Hearing of the case was set for Tuesday and the Briarton man furnished bonds of $50. He was arrested in Appleton by Peter Van Oudenhoven, county motorcycle officer.

CITY HALL CLOSSES
City hall offices will be closed all day Monday, in observance of Labor Day. They will reopen at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

COMMITTEE TO MEET
The finance committee will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening at city hall. Several proposed ordinances will be considered.

First Commercial Flight In Appleton 21 Years Ago

Monday will be the twenty-first anniversary of the first successful commercial airplane flight in Wisconsin, which took place in Appleton on Labor Day, 1911. The event, termed the "Ask Wettengel" aviation exhibition, was sponsored by Fred F. Wettengel.

The exhibition was put on by the Calbraith Rodgers in his Wright bi-plane. Sixteen passengers were taken up into the air, and trips were made to Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna.

Several flying records were made on that occasion. Rodgers remained in the air for 20 minutes, and went up 2,100 feet in the air on another flight, both of which established records in Wisconsin. The late George A. Whiting, Sr. of Neenah was the oldest man to take an aerial trip in a flying machine.

Others who rode with Rodgers on that memorable day were the late Mrs. Frank Whiting of Neenah, the first woman in Wisconsin to ride in an aeroplane. Frank Whiting, Harvey Konrad, chauffeur for George Baldwin, John Scheer, watchmaker with Frank C. Hyde and company, Mrs. William Van Nortwick, Mrs. J. D. Steele, Kimberly Stuart of Neenah, Fred Woods, Stuart Davis, Chester Scott, Arthur Hantschel, Mrs. A. Alberta Bowman, and Mr. Wettengel.

Excerpts from the account of the exhibition in the Appleton Evening Crescent of that day reveal the skepticism with which flying was accepted in those days:

"Women screamed and turned their heads, fearing the aviator would be dashed to the earth and killed, but when about 1,000 feet from the ground he shifted the lever and the car righted itself and gradually sailed downward, and after soaring around the park once or twice he landed as lightly as a feather, 20 minutes from the time he started."

"Mr. Rodgers raced for nearly a mile with an automobile running between him and 40 miles an hour, it being the first race between an aeroplane and automobile on record in Wisconsin."

"G. A. Whiting, Sr., was loath to allow his son to make the flight but after considerable arguing the young man secured his father's consent, kissed his wife goodbye and two minutes later was in the air."

"During a flight in the dark, signal lights were used. One fire was lighted back of the third base bleachers, near the cornfield, a second one was about 250 northeast, while the third fire was built in front of the ticket office. Street lights were burning in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton when Mr. Rodgers landed, and so fascinated was the crowd that very few left until after the aviator had made the successful landing."

Rodgers' plane, which weighed 1,000 pounds, had a 40-horsepower engine. It could travel at a rate of 45 miles an hour with a little wind, but against a strong wind could make only 15 to 20 miles an hour. Traveling with the wind Mr. Rodgers had made 75 miles an hour.

After the exhibition here Mr. Wettengel became Rodgers' manager in a coast-to-coast flight.

The $2,000 purse given to Rodgers for staying in the air 10 minutes was donated by Mr. Wettengel.

24 Manufacturers To Exhibit Here
Will Show Products in Store Windows During Week Sept. 25-Oct. 1
Twenty-four Appleton manufacturing companies have indicated willingness to display products in local store windows during Wisconsin Products Week, Sept. 25 to Oct. 1, according to Kenneth H. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who is contacting the companies in behalf of a special chamber committee.

More than a dozen stores have indicated they will devote window space to display manufacturing machines or the manufactured article or photographs of jobs the companies have done.

The project is state-wide in scope and the chamber committee expects that nearly every manufacturer in the city will cooperate. Those who already have indicated a willingness are:

Riverside Paper Corporation, Badger Wood Plug company, Patten Paper company, Appleton Pattern Works, Appleton Wood Products company, Outagamie Milk Products company, Appleton Car Mover company.

Princess Paint company, Appleton Toy Furniture company, Fox River Paper company, Tuttle Press company, Zwicker Knitting Mills, Appleton Coated Paper company, Northern Boiler Works, Appleton Machine company.

Fox River Tractor company, Eagle Manufacturing company, J. J. Bank company, Huertle Rug Beater company, Fuhrman Canning company, Heinzkill Soap company, Rowell Manufacturing company, Advance Car Mover company, Appleton Car Mover company.

CONSIDER FUEL BIDS
The public grounds and building committee considers fuel bids at a meeting at city hall Friday evening. Another meeting will be held Tuesday, as no decision was reached.

By Public Demand

IT is public demand that I have created the many improvements in funeral service in the past few years. It is only reasonable that the standards of burial equipment and service should keep pace with present standard of living.

Today, custom calls for many refinements in the funeral service... refinements undreamed of a few years ago, but which do much to lighten the burdens of bereaved families.

We are prepared to offer a funeral service which is up-to-date in every respect and yet at a price as low as is consistent without sacrificing quality. We have responded to the public demand in this respect.

Rubin to Talk Five Times in Outagamie-co

Democratic Candidate at Kaukauna Wed. P. M., Appleton in Evening

William B. Rubin, Milwaukee attorney and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has included Appleton and Kaukauna in his itinerary for a campaign through this district next week. The campaign starts Sept. 6 and ends Sept. 11 at a big Democratic rally at the Northeastern Wisconsin fairgrounds at DePere.

Mr. Rubin will talk in Kaukauna Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 7, and at Pierce park at Appleton that evening. On Thursday he will give talks in Hortonville, Medina, Fremont, Weyauwega, New London, Royaltown, Manawa, Bear Creek and Clintonville.

Mr. Rubin, one of four gubernatorial candidates endorsed at the recent democratic state conference at Green Bay, has a notable record as a labor attorney, and has taken part in many prominent labor cases, including the actors' equity strike and the steel strike of 1919. He pledges if elected, the abolition of useless commissions, change in the mortgage foreclosure law, safeguarding of investments, control of power interests, and support for prohibition repeal.

His itinerary will be as follows: Sept. 6, Tuesday.—Two Rivers, Mishicot, Tisch Mills, Denmark, Stangelville, Kewaunee (noon), Rosetok, Alaska, Forestville, Maplewood, Algoma (evening).

Sept. 7, Wednesday.—Casco, Luxemburg, New Franken, Bellevue, Shirley (noon), Greenleaf, Wrightstown, Kaukauna, Appleton (evening).

Sept. 8, Thursday.—Hortonville, Medina, Readfield, Fremont, Weyauwega, New London (noon), Royaltown, Manawa, Synco, Bear Creek, Clintonville, Embarrass, Shawano (evening).

Sept. 9, Friday.—Bonduel, Pulaski, Krakow, Green Valley, Gillett, Oconto Falls, Oconto (noon), Peshigo, Marinette (evening).

Sept. 10, Saturday.—Pensaukee, Abrams, Suamico, Duck Creek DePere (noon), 6:45 Radio talk WHBY, Green Bay (evening), Whitney Park 8 o'clock.

Sunday—at democratic rally at fairgrounds.

Paper Firms in Appeal From Court's Ruling

Madison—(AP)—Three Wisconsin paper companies which lost a suit in circuit court to collect refunds from railroads for private switching of freight cars at their mills filed notice Friday of an appeal to the state supreme court.

Circuit Judge A. G. Zimmerman recently held constitutional the 1931 law forbidding railroad reimbursing companies for money they expended in doing their own switching.

The companies which seek to have the law declared void are the Nekeosa-Edwards Paper company, the Marathon Paper Mills company and the Mosinee Paper Mills company.

Their suit is against the State Public Service commission, the Northwestern, Milwaukee and Soo Line railroads.

May Establish Game Preserve

Project on 200-Acre Tract Considered by Delbert Draheim

BY W. F. WINSEY

Medina—The establishment of a 200-acre game preserve in this vicinity this fall is being considered by Delbert Draheim, proprietor of the Draheim Game farm. His plan is to charge each hunter a certain specified price for each bird he kills in the preserve. The only thing that will prevent the consummation of the hunting preserve is the depression.

The main line of the Draheim Game farm is the rearing of pheasants. Side lines are the rearing of Mallard ducks, quail and peacocks.

This season Mr. Draheim raised 300 pheasants of the Ringneck, Mongolian, Melanistic, Mulaut Reeves, and Golden varieties.

He hatched the eggs under ducks and seven chicks gave him an average of 19 chicks for 23 eggs. All the other chicks also made good averages. During the laying season he sold 2,000 eggs. His production this season is about the same as that of last season, but he has a greater number of kinds this season than last.

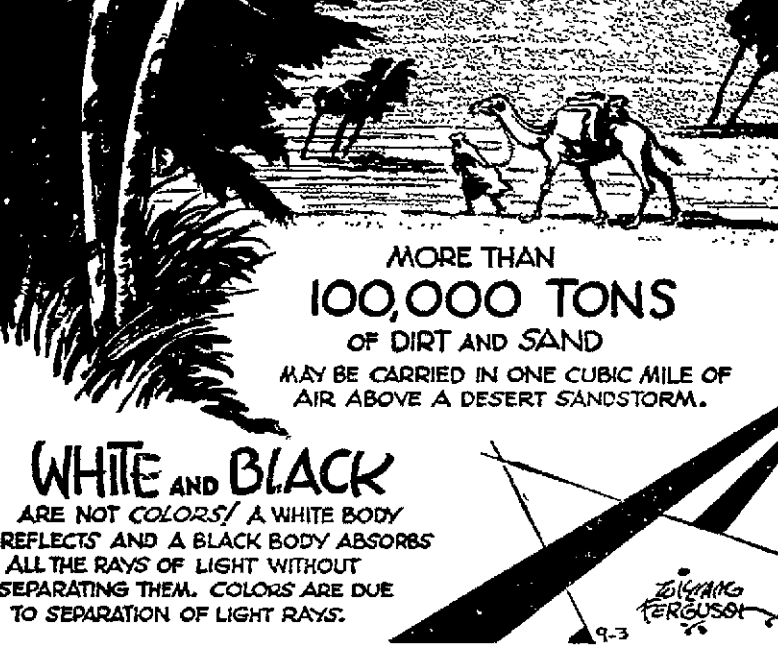

He plants rape and grasses in and about his enclosures as a cover for his chicks. The chicks are free to come and go, and even with that, he has no losses except the few chicks that are picked up near the coops by owls and hawks. When the birds are through with excursions they make for the coops

WHITE LIGHT is compounded of the seven primary colors; violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red. An ordinary white light, when transmitted through triangular prisms of glass, is shown to consist of these colors. Colors are due to separation of the rays of light by partial absorption and reflection, or by refraction. If a body absorbs every other kind of light and reflects only red light, then the object appears red.

and meals in double quick time. They try harder to get back into the coops than to get out. Mr. Draheim said that he is through with clipping the wings of pheasants.

Some of his young pheasants now tip the scales at 2½ pounds each, and will be ready for shipment the last of this month. Last year his shipments went to Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey and Illinois. As far as he knows he is the largest raiser of pheasants within a radius of fifty miles.

LABOR DAY 1932

We should not look upon Labor Day this year as just another Labor Day nor just another holiday.

It should be observed in the light of the gratifying phases of the relation of employer and employee that have developed out of the tangled upheaval called the depression.

The depression of nearly forty years ago is recent enough to make some worthwhile comparisons.

Then tumult and disorder were common upon our streets. Now peace and calm reign supreme.

What has caused this difference? The reasons are quite plain.

America has presented to the world a new set of principles concerning the relations of employer and employee. It may not be a perfect set. It would be extraordinary if it were. But these rules tend toward that indefinable thing we call justice, which, in its last analysis, is a satisfaction upon the part of those concerned in any business or controversy that they have been dealt with fairly and honestly.

The first of these American principles required the payment to labor during periods of prosperity of high wages. This principle was generally and generously carried out, however much men may be able to refer to isolated instances here and there to the contrary.

The country passed from the slogan of a "living wage" to the slogan of a "saving wage." A large percentage of the workers had accumulated property, and so when distress faced them they were not thrown into an immediate panic but were so situated they might coolly look over developments. Fear did not immediately gnaw at their vitals because want did not stare them in the face. The one substantial weakness that has been exposed out of this otherwise excellent system is the failure upon the part of the government in two important particulars, first, in the lapse of a strict regulation of its banks in which many working people had substantial savings which became jeopardized, and, second, in permitting a financial orgy that brought forth and sold at par securities that not only turned out to be insecure but behind which there were inflated or visionary values. Those weaknesses must be given full attention in the future. And they must be corrected.

The second American principle was entirely new in the world, so far as we can learn, until this depression. We departed in the matter of this principle from deep rut worn for centuries in the pathway upon which mankind has trod in fateful course. Instead of cutting wages of those employed, heretofore the first rule in the face of every disaster, we have witnessed an organized effort upon the part of almost all employers, and certainly the great employers, to uphold wages for such length of time at least until the cost of living became adjusted. In this way the depression became a gradual settling instead of a precipitous flop. Since those employed were generally kept at a relatively high wage for a long period after the depression started, they, whatever their former state, were enabled to save and did so because thoroughly warned by the difficulties evident on every hand.

Labor, instead of being the first to suffer, has been the first to be protected and the last to suffer.

And because labor had good reason to be convinced by a multitude of evidence on every hand that it was being justly treated, at least in comparison with the difficulties that beset others, it gave to the country one of the most conspicuous aids toward the solution of the crisis, and that was a friendly and conciliatory attitude in approaching and attempting to solve all questions.

As a result capital and labor, instead of dissipating their strength in useless angry strife, have marched shoulder to shoulder against the forces of disaster and disorder, always difficult to fight because both invisible and treacherous. They have fought in a common cause. They have struggled for a common purpose.

Deeper seemingly every year, and always deeper, forms the conviction that no one group and no one section can profit at the expense of others.

As a people we live together. As a nation we stand together. In peril or disaster we fight together.

The remarkable success of America has come from its unity of action and its unity of action is the offspring of the unselfish purpose upon the part of most of our millions to treat fairly with each other.

It may be that all of this is possible because of the "cynic devil" in the blood of the American that "bids him mock his hurrying soul" and in the language of Kipling,

"That checks him foolish-hot and fond,
That chuckles through his deepest ire,
That gilds the slough of his despond,
But dims the goal of his desire."

Labor Day 1932, despite the continuance of the hardships that are manifest in this crisis, should have nothing funereal about it.

It should be a day of rejoicing because it is a day of triumph.

WHERE IS EXHIBIT NO. 1?

A long and rare journey of 12,000 miles around this country has been concluded by a bus called Diogenes. It carried five members of the Prohibition Research Committee who started out upon a voyage of discovery like Diogenes' search for an honest man and the trip of Columbus seeking the western passage to India.

This committee however was trying to discover "one drunkard who has been reformed by the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment," and the report which it has to make as well as the character of its trip, which was well publicized, may tend to fix attention on the practical workings of this prohibition law as distinguished from the emotional claims made for it by the many honest dries who support it. Surely if it had any great virtue it must have reformed at least one drunkard. Wasn't it passed originally to save the man who could not save himself?

The committee ended its journey empty-handed. It was unable to locate Exhibit No. 1.

It sought out and politely challenged dry leaders everywhere to produce just one drunkard whose reform was attributable to law, to open up to investigation just one case, only one, where the law had straightened up a reeling figure, dashed the deceiving cup from his hands and therefore made him again a useful member of society. Its experience with Jane Addams, well known social worker in Chicago, and faithful supporter of the dry cause, is typical of its experience everywhere. Concerning Miss Addams it reports:

"She told us at first that she could show us hundreds of such reformed drunkards. But when the records had to be produced and her assistants, who told of many such cases were interviewed it developed that there was not a single case."

Of course reformed drunkards were found, as they were to be found before prohibition was ever enacted, but when they were questioned as to the cause of their reform no story told, even twisted in the fondest manner, put the credit with the law.

The assistant prohibition director at Washington when visited by the committee declared:

"No law ever stopped anyone from drinking in this country or any other country, for anybody, under prohibition, can get a drunk when and if he wants it."

Although this trip was doubtless taken to present in spectacular fashion the repeal side of the prevailing controversy it should rivet the attention of the people upon the plain and practically indisputable fact that the original purpose of the law has not only failed utterly but miserably. Exhibit No. 1 is still to be found.

But who will dare to offer a reward for a list of the drunkards the Eighteenth Amendment has created?

RESIGNATION UNDER FIRE IS WEAKNESS

Two things appear to have made the resignation of Mayor Walker unavoidable.

The first was the ruling by Governor Roosevelt that a public official was not in the same position and could not act in the same manner as a defendant in court; that when large sums of money or property were found to come to his possession during his incumbency he must reasonably account for their proper and honest ownership; and that when circumstances raised a strong suspicion against a public official he must meet the issue thus created frankly and openly and could not take refuge in rules of law that have protected so many defendants.

The second was the ruling by the courts of New York that they have no power over the person of the governor and that he is accountable for his decisions only to the people and his own conscience.

Mayor Walker's resignation was made because he was convinced beyond all reasonable doubt that the governor would expel him from office.

That is a tribute by Mr. Walker and his friends to the governor's thorough independence and the fact that he is beyond the reach of personal influence.

And thus the evidence accumulates to establish the conviction that Governor Roosevelt possesses that steel-like form of personal honesty that will not tolerate the consideration by a public official of anything but the public welfare.

The first bale of 1932 cotton sold at Persimmon, Fla., brought 21 cents a pound.

Calipatria County, in Southern California, is 175 feet below sea level.

Scientists believe that birds are an offshoot of active reptiles.

YOUR Super-Columnist has a sore finger as this is written . . . the two finger method of typing is more in effect than ever . . . the heliutit is that just as a swell idea comes bubbling forth, he bangs down with the sore finger in an absent-minded fashion and the swell idea is just another one of those things—a bit swollen . . . anyhow, it makes a swell alibi . . . a columnist always needs a good alibi . . . like a golfer . . . or a fisherman . . . didn't hear about the fisherman who had a flock of fish in small size display cases in his trophy room and then some immense display cases entirely empty? . . . they were for the fish that got away . . .

So Mayor Jimmy Walker has resigned as the leading citizen in the nation's largest city. They say he did it so he could come back for re-election when New York votes for mayor again. Probably he'll be re-elected. Fellow hicks, the smart folks down N'Yawk way love their Jimmy, no matter whether he ever works or not or how much misgovernment there happens to be. They love him.

But personally, we think that Jimmy resigned so there wouldn't be anything to interfere with his Labor Day weekend. He takes his weekends very seriously.

ADVICE TO LABOR DAY TRAVELERS

1. Arrange with the policeman to check over the house to see if lights, gas, water, etc. are turned off, if the canary gets fed, if the radio is running, if the milkman keeps leaving the bottles and such details.

2. Buy a trailer. Hitch it to the car. In it put extra tires, tubes, batteries, motors, headlights, bumpers, etc. Also insert an experienced mechanic.

3. Bring along reading lamps, literature, candy, cocktail shaker and ingredients, pillows, radio etc. The hitch-hikers are getting more particular these days. They may want some little comfort which you don't ordinarily offer.

4. If you want rain, wear light clothes and take your bathing suits. If you want nice weather, wear heavy clothes and bring along overcoats and slickers.

5. If you can't decide between fishing and golf, leave the tackle and clubs home. Fishing and golf will both be good, then.

Anyway, have a good time. It's your last big weekend opportunity this year.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

JUST FOLKS 2-12 ems runs Sat., Sept. 3 . . . RECALLING A FIRST INTERVIEW

As cub reporter, I was sent to interview a president. Of some concern I don't recall. And little that he said at all. But I remember, as I ran, He really was a famous man. The editor who gave the task Told me what questions I should ask.

I quite forgot that happy day. What great men are supposed to say. For cub reporters hesitate. The famous to interrogate, And I fumbled with my hat. And did my best with him to chat. At last I put one question, which Was "Did your father leave you rich?"

He looked at me and smiled and said: "The contrary is true instead. So far as money is concerned, My father very little earned. His life was one of toil, and yet His memory I shan't forget. For when he died I knew that he Had not one single fear for me."

"So well he'd schooled me day by day, He knew that I could find my way. The wisest, bravest, kindest sire Knew just what wisdom I'd require, And taught me that, and passing on He'd be safe when he was gone. Such wealth as that is safer far Than all your hoarded dollars are!"

A cub reporter then went out. With something-long to think about! (Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest)

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Saturday, Sept. 7, 1907

Paul Hackbert, local chairman of the Northern Wisconsin division of the Order of Railway Telegraphers called a meeting the previous night to discuss the affairs affected by the strike of the commercial telegraphers in force at that time.

Miss Mary Kanouse left that morning for Antigo where she resumed her work as instructor in English and literature at the high school there.

Marine circles throughout the valley were interested in the announcement that George Ryan, Oshkosh boat builder, was planning the construction of one of the largest passenger boats that ever navigated the waters of the Fox.

The announcement of the coming marriage of Miss Jennie Alberty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Alberty, 438 Walnut-st. and Louis Rechner, son of Anton Rechner, was made the following Sunday at St. Joseph church.

Robert Hackworthy was appointed to fill the vacancy on the Fourth district school board made by Herman Getschow, who resigned. The Getschows were to move to the second ward of the city.

TEN YEARS AGO

Saturday, Sept. 2, 1922

The birthday anniversaries of F. E. Saecker, Dr. J. A. Holmes, H. F. Heckert, and W. F. Saecker were celebrated at the Saecker cottage at Lake Winnebago the previous evening. Twenty guests were present.

Mrs. Fred Weire entertained friends at her home the previous afternoon in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Emil Buss.

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Brooks returned from an extended stay at their summer home at Lake Enterprise.

Sarto Balliet and his sister, Miss Mary Balliet, were spending the week with friends in Rhinelander.

Mrs. J. C. Kunitz and Mrs. Anna Falatich left that morning for an extended visit in Minneapolis, where they were to visit Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kunitz.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

EARLY ESTABLISHMENT OF INTERFERENCE HABIT

A baby is a finely adjusted piece of machinery, not weak, but so perfectly coordinated that, like a fine watch, it is easily put out of order.

The first dose of castor oil or other laxative or physic you give a baby is a matter of tremendous importance which demands the best judgment of a physician. But, shucks, who would submit such a question to the doctor? Babies are not worth so much consideration. Any old woman will do to consult about such a thing. It is much the same as the you were contemplating trying your remedy on the dog. A baby in some households is no better than a dog when it comes to a question of plying the young one with medicine.

The second and third dose of physic are worse than the first. A fairly healthy baby might get over the first dose all right and suffer no lasting injury. But when you follow up your attack, blow upon blow almost any infant will succumb and thereafter the internal machinery will require pretty regular castor oiling or else it won't work to suit the old women of the neighborhood at all. And surely you would not have a baby around the place that doesn't conform to the whims of the neighborhood busy-bodies would you, dumb ones?

The first dose merely disrupts or temporarily upsets co-ordination. Jars things, like shifting into reverse gear while you are still traveling forward. The second and third doses increase the inco-ordination and tend to set up a conditioned reflex, as physiologists call it. That is, the alimentary function soon becomes dependent upon the dose of physic, just as an animal learns after a certain number of repetitions, to come to feed at the sound of a bell or your call. Just how many doses of castor oil or other laxative it is necessary to give in order to establish habit I need not estimate. Why establish the habit?

In infant or adult there is never any serious harm done by absolute refraining from the use of any and all physics, laxatives or artificial aids to bowel action. In the morbid fancy of those thoroly misinformed by quacks and nostrum mongers, there is grave danger in going without the customary physic. In actual fact no such ill consequences develop. Would I dare to be so positive and arbitrary about this if any reputable physician could refute my teaching?

A contributing factor of the constipation habit in infancy is inadequate feeding—too weak a modified milk formula and failure to add to the ordinary milk ration a suitable ration of fresh fruit juice, cod liver oil, and in the second half of the first year, such foods as ripe banana, scraped beef, chicken or mutton, raw or cooked vegetables passed thru a colander or coarse mesh sieve.

The right name for constipation in almost all cases is interference habit, for if the natural automatic regulation of the bowel function were not interfered with there would be no such trouble to worry about.

The best advice I can give any parent who contemplates giving a baby physic is, DON'T.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

From Teeth to Tonsils to Ears
Ears have ringing noise. Tonsils swollen, inflamed, white spots. Recently had tonsils badly infected teeth removed. Would like to know some good doctor who uses diathermy method for tonsils. (G. A. N.)

Answer—Good doctors everywhere now use the diathermy method, or rather their patients do. Many are skilled in the method. Repeat your request and inclose stamped envelope bearing your address, and we will suggest a good doctor by private letter.

Walnut for Ringworm

Cut a slice of the hull of a green walnut, tape over the ringworm. Leave it in place till it dries, then remove and repeat. Two or three applications usually effect a cure. This has cured some cases of obstinate eczema, too. Walnuts are about right for it now. (Mrs. C. H. Hollywood.)

The Finished Symphony

What ever became of the famous Brady Symphony you used to distribute among your friends? I still have my copy and I know the whole symphony by heart, for I have performed it daily for some eight years and it has proved of inestimable value in keeping me fit. . . . (S. O. M.)

Answer—It cost too much to publish and distribute. Thru the generosity of a friend we have on hand about 2,000 copies of the Third Brady Symphony (a course of home exercise to keep one fit). Ask for the Third Brady Symphony, inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address, and do NOT try to make a clipping serve as a request. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

O f course the Tinies gathered 'round when Duncy was knocked to the ground. The punch the monkey gave him took him right off of his feet.

The monkey, in the meantime, stood nearby. He knew that he was good. Poor Duncy looked around a bit and said, "That blow was neat. 'T was it coming rather fast and hoped that it would sail right past. The next thing that I knew, I did a flip-flop in the air."

"The monkey's trained to fight, I guess, 'cause out of me he made a mess. I lost my first real boxing match, but chucks, I do not care."

Then to the winning monk the bunch exclaimed, "You have a real stiff punch. Some other time we'll come again and then we'll try some more."

"Right now we're going to look around, and trust that new sights will be found. You'd better stop your fighting for today, or you'll be sore."

The monkey chattered long and loud and waved to all the Tyny crowd. And then he scampered up a tree and soon fell fast asleep. "He's all tired out," one Tyny said. "That's why he went to his weary head. I'll bet he'll snooze for hours and hours and never even peep."

And so they left the beast behind and walked until they chanced to find a funny little railroad train that ran all through play park.

"Gee, but that's cute," wee Scouty cried. "Let's see if we can have a ride. There's room enough for all of us and it will be a lark."

The monkey engineer said, "Yes, you all can hop right in, I guess I'll make my little train go fast, so you must hang on tight."

So, as the Tinies hopped right in, on each one's face there was a grin. The engine then began to puff, which filled them with delight.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Surely any ghost with a sense for drama ought to be glad to walk on the eighty-second floor of the Empire State building during an electrical storm.

With the streaks of lightning outside the window looking almost within reach and a shrieking wind driving the rain against the world's tallest tower, it seemed an ideal setting for the eeriest golgoths-on-stairs.

Yet a seance up there the other night, under those conditions, proved an abysmal flop.

Mr. Joseph Dunninger, who is attempting to carry on the spook-chasing activities of the late Houdini, was sponsor for the experiment. Dunninger says he will give $10,000 of his own money to any medium who will achieve any effect that he can't reproduce by science or sleight-of-hand.

He found a quaint, elderly couple uptown who are reputed to astound their neighborhood with their spiritualistic business in their home. They, said Prof. Dunninger, would attempt to baffle a gathering of skeptical persons and win the Dunninger prize.

Ghost Shuns Skyscraper
The reason for going up so high in the Empire State was explained thus: Some of the master minds of spiritualism have held that certain obstacles, in closer proximity to the earth, both up messages coming through to mediums from their controls in the beyond. By going up 82 stories, these interferences would be surmounted and the mediums would have a fairer test.

For one thing, this strange couple was supposed to get in communication with a departed scientist and recall a conversation Dunninger had with him a short time before his death.

After considerable delay while refreshments were served (the only spirits produced during the evening), the seance began.

There was the usual locus-pocus with the lights off. The old lady went into her "trance" and made all manner of strange noises. But on hour passed, and there was no very convincing evidence of contact with the scientist.

A woman follower of the spiritualists who accompanied them to the test was quite indignant at Dr. Dunninger for his comments on the performance.

"Well, see here," she argued, "this thing was supposed to get under way at 8:30 and didn't start until nearly 10. The spirits won't wait around, you know."

Molly Picon, the Yiddish comedienne, was born in Philadelphia and scored a notable success on the Yiddish stage there. But before she ever played in New York, to become the toast of the east side, she performed in Warsaw, Bucharest, Paris, Berlin, London and other capitals.

The Heckler family, of the Forty-second street flea circus, are very proud of their achievements in the art of bug training. W. Heckler, Swiss by birth, started tutoring fleas in Florida, and achieved an eminence perhaps unmatched in his line.

I asked his son, Roy, if they recognized any rivals. He told me that a professor in Venice, Cal., had done important work in the field of flea pedagogy. "Of course, there are some flea men with carnivals, but they are not any benefit to the profession," he asserted.

Today's Anniversary

10,000 GERMANS TAKEN

On Sept. 2, 1918, British troops continued their offensive in Picardy, pushing ahead to Baralle, eight miles from Cambrai. A dozen villages were taken in the drive, which took place on a front of more than 20 miles. Their maximum gain for the day was more than six miles.

During the day more than 10,000 Germans were taken prisoners and 50 guns were captured.

Other German detachments retreated hastily to the Canal du Nord, where they made a determined stand.

It was announced that Japanese cavalry had occupied Iman, in Siberia.

Rumors from Russia said that the Soviet government had declared war on China because of the participation of Chinese soldiers in the movement in northern Manchuria.

G.O.P. Chiefs Now Cheerful About Chances

Feel October and November Psychology Will Decide Election

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — When Senator Moses of New Hampshire makes his "honest prediction" that President Hoover will win by a margin of at least 22 votes; he reveals what is becoming a crystallized opinion among Republicans, namely that the election is going to be close.

A few months ago even the Republicans thought they didn't have a chance and the Democrats were talking landslide for their nominee no matter who it would be. Now that Governor Roosevelt has been nominated, the Democrats for the most part are as confident as they ever were of victory but the Republicans have manifested a marked change of attitude. This is partly due to the strength of the Hoover acceptance speech with regular Republicans and the fact that the Democratic nominee has not convinced the Republicans by his speeches that he has a constructive solution for the nation's ills, or at least anything that the Hoover administration isn't trying to put into effect.

The Democratic managers brush all this aside as illogical. This is a year they say in which the people will vote against things and their anti-administration feeling will reflect itself very much as it did in 1920 when the Wilson administration was up for judgment.

Sees Growing Strength

When Mr. Moses predicts a bare margin for President Hoover, however, it is realized that he is not talking about July or August straw votes but October and November psychology. He is discounting the future so to speak and assuming a rise in Hoover stock coincident with an improvement in business and employment.

One thing is certain. The Republicans recognize they have a hard fight on. They feel they are making gains and that if luck is with them and their chances continue to improve they will still have such a big lead to overcome that squeezing through by a margin of 22 electoral votes will be considered a real achievement. Incidentally Mr. Wilson in 1916 had a margin of only a handful of electoral votes and political history has revealed many an instance in which a fight for reelection has been difficult for a president no matter what the economic condition of the country. Mr. Taft used to talk about this and Mr. Coolidge has often written about it. Resentment comes out of positive action and a president has all the handicap of past performance with the enemies that are inevitable through the signing or vetoing of legislation while a party nominee seeking power has only to exhibit his promises. He has no past—at least not in the same office.

Scenes in "Racetrack"

Shot in Agua Caliente

Thrilling race track scenes said to be the most sensational ever filmed, are the features of the new World Wide Pictures—James Cruze feature, "Racetrack," coming to the Appleton Theatre next Friday and Saturday.

Leo Carrillo, noted star of stage and screen, will be seen in the stellar role, with a supporting cast that includes Junior Coghlan, Kay Hammond and Lee Moran.

As the title suggests, the picture is a story of the racetrack, Carrillo appearing as a bookmaker with Junior Coghlan as a waif he adopts and who grows up to be a jockey.

The racetrack scenes were filmed at Agua Caliente, famous resort

Neil Hamilton and Constance Bennett who play the leading roles in Warner Bros. "Two Against the World" which opens at Warner's Appleton Theatre with tonight's preview for a 3 day run.

Stage Show and Picture at Fox

"The Age of Consent" is Great Story of Modern Youth

Accompanying this stage show is that famous comedy team of Stan Carter and Maurice Cash, known as the "Ballyhoodlums" and their act is a riot of laughs. Larry Forbes, one of the Forbes brothers, of course, who are all big time favorites, will prove his title as the worlds fastest tap dancer. But the other Forbes will show you that they are not so slow either. And there's Mary Vandas dancers, all pretty girls, who were engaged for three solid years at the Chicago Theatre and 18 weeks at Terrace Gardens. Nobody's telling them how to do it! This performance has entertainment thrills you'll want to see.

"Age of Consent"

Grandmother's moral code, it's pretty generally agreed, is almost confined to illustrated calendars, the old third reader, and tradition. In contrast, the problems, the philosophies, the pitfalls and the pleasures of modern youth are radically different.

A boy and girl on a college campus face the question of whether to marry or finish their education. Two teachers, a man and a woman, counsel against their throwing up their degrees. But the lovers see that, in waiting, this very couple has lost happiness. . . . love has passed them by while they waited. College sheepskins decorate their walls but no marriage license.

The boy is impulsive, the girl hesitant, and during the delay both are victims of the social whirl of the campus life. A midnight drinking bout leads the boy into complications with another girl. A stern parent declares it can only be straightened out by a wedding ceremony—as though marriage was the antidote for a social error. And here the film raises a question of importance to parents and philandering youth at the same time. What should be the age of consent? When does parental authority cease and the normal impulses of youth become their own responsibility?

Just below the Mexican border, where James Cruze director took the entire troupe for a week while the fast-action racing scenes were shot.

New Hit Scored By Jackie Cooper

"When a Feller Needs a Friend" is Most Appealing Picture

In one of the most appealing stories ever brought to the screen, young Jackie Cooper outshines any of his previous performances in "When a Feller Needs a Friend," at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday.

A boy crippled since birth who fights to overcome his handicap provides a characterization for Jackie that has very strong heart appeal. The youngster more than justifies the praise that has been given to his ability. Through his emotional interpretation of the role he establishes himself as one of the most accomplished players on the screen regardless of age.

Charles "Chic" Sale gives another one of his inimitable portrayals of "old men." His Uncle Jonas is one of the most human and lovable characters he has ever attempted. When he and Jackie get together in an attempt to have some "real fun" their hilarious adventures are a treat for the audience.

The locale of the story is in a mid-Western town at the home of Tom Randall, moderately successful lawyer. The Randalls, played with real sympathy by Ralph Graves and Dorothy Peterson, are united in anxious solicitation over the welfare of their crippled son, Limpy. Their over-anxious coddling of the boy is the cause of difficulties that are a foundation for the action in the production.

Other players who creditably perform their roles are Andy Shuford, as the tough bully, Freddie; Helen Parrish, as Diana, the "baby vamp"; Donald Haines, Gus Leonard and Oscar Apfel.

Garbo Appears Now as Blonde Cafe Singer

Greta Garbo, who may always be relied upon for something different, appears as a platinum-blonde cafe singer in her latest screen characterization as Zara in "As You Desire Me."

The new Garbo picture, which will show at the Elite Theatre next Thursday and Friday, is a filmization of the New York dramatic hit by the noted Italian playwright, Luigi Pirandello, with dialogue continuity by Gene Markey. George Fitzmaurice, who recently scored with his production of "Mata Hari," again directed Miss Garbo in "As You Desire Me."

The star is supported by Melvyn Douglas, who made his film debut opposite Gloria Swanson in "Tonight or Never"; the celebrated character actor, Erich Von Stroheim; Owen Moore, Hedda Hopper, Rafaela Ottiano, Warburton Gable, Albert Conti, William Ricciardi and Roland Varno.

Locusts Ruin Crops; Filipinos Eat Pests

Manila (AP)—Eating the locusts that eat the crops is one solution of the problem of the insect pest which has been especially destructive this year in the southern Philippines.

Thousands of sacks of cooked locusts have been brought here by inter-island steamers and have found ready sale among families of Filipino laborers.

Shippers reported that in some instances the locusts brought more cash than could have been gained from the crops they ate.

Democrats Make Strong Play for Western Votes

Hope to Win November Election Even if East Is for Hoover

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington — The democratic drive in the west to be marked by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's September swing, puts a good deal of emphasis on the purely mathematical aspects of the electoral college.

Those who discuss politics at the corner grocery store—and in many other places—seem a little uncertain, in view of the reapportionment of 1932, whether there is any prospect that the democrats can win by carrying the south and most of the west, and losing all or nearly all the east.

The answer is that such an outcome would be entirely possible, so far as the figures are concerned. But it is equally true that such an outcome would be very unusual and the possibility is being discussed now only because these are unusual times.

The change in apportionment in the electoral college, based on the 1930 census, has not greatly altered the sectional balance since the unusual case of 1916, when Wilson lost all of the east except two of the smaller states, and on top of that lost nine other states in the mid-west, northwest, far west and border groups, and still was elected over Hughes.

It is worth recalling just what happened in 1916, both because that election has become a classic, and because the democrats are expending so much of their energy now in the same sections where they won 18 years ago.

In that year the democratic ticket lost one border state, West Virginia. Starting west from the Pennsylvania-Ohio line, it lost Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa and Oregon. From the Pennsylv-

Brilliant Drama Of High Society

Constance Bennett and Neil Hamilton Star in This Talkie

The charming blonde Constance Bennett, or the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudray, as she is known in private life, is the attraction which opens with the midnite show-to-nite for 3 days at the Appleton theatre, in a powerful dramatic story, "Two Against the World," produced by Warner Bros.

The story is a brilliant drama of high society with a dynamic court room scene, in which a beautiful society girl confesses to sins of which she is not guilty. She drags her honor in the dust, in order to save her brother from the electric chair and her married sister from a scandal.

There is an unusually strong cast with Miss Bennett supported by Neil Hamilton, who although he is in love with her, is forced to prosecute her brother on a murder charge, and compelled to listen to the story of her dishonor from her own lips.

The picture is taken from the popular novel by Marion Dix and Jerry Horwin and deals with a rich and proud family whose name is dragged through the mire of a scandalous criminal court battle.

Miss Bennett is particularly charming, it is said, as a society miss full of mischief and devil-may-care daring, but such a good sport that she shoulders the disgrace of the family at the expense of her own honor.

The background and settings are particularly lavish, representing wealthy homes, magnificently furnished apartments of wealthy clubmen and country estates of the elite social set. There is a wealth of beautiful gowns, Miss Bennett herself having twenty-two complete changes. Archie Mayo directed.

Lurking Python Caught In House After 90 Days

St. Louis (AP)—One of two pythons which escaped from the bathroom of a lodging house was found three months later in a residence two doors away. A householder tried to kick it out the back door, mistaking its coiled form in the darkness for that of a cat.

A snake-charmer and her lion-tamer husband brought the reptiles into the rooming house without the landlady's knowledge or permission.

Wallace Thriller Made Into Picture

"The Feathered Serpent" Is Retitled "The Menace"

One of the most recent works of the prolific mystery thriller author, Edgar Wallace, "The Feathered Serpent," has been brought to the screen by Columbia Pictures as "The Menace," and is scheduled to play at the Appleton Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Practically an entire English cast brings this thriller, which has been declared a tonic for jaded nerves, to the screen. Bette Davis and Natalie Moorhead are the sole American members. The native Englishmen, who appear in this English story by an English author are H. B. Warner, Walter Byron, Craufurd Kent, Murray Kinell, Charles Gerrard and Hal liwell Hobbes. Walter Byron, who was brought from England by Samuel Goldwyn to appear opposite Vilma Banky in "The Awakening," plays the vengeful young Englishman. Bette Davis, late of the road-way stage, is the romantic interest. Dorothy Howell, Charles Logue and Roy Chanslor worked on the film adaptation of the novel and Roy William Neill directed.

Fifty per cent more votes were cast in the 1932 Texas democratic governorship primary than on the question of prohibition repeal, submitted at the same time.

5 Weddings In Appleton This Weekend

SEVERAL Appleton weddings and wedding parties highlight the social activities of the city this weekend, with four church ceremonies taking place on Labor day and the Stimson-Spaulding event today at the James E. H. Stimson home, 600 Bellaire-pl.

Miss Helen Stimson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. H. Stimson, was wed at noon today to George Hoyt Spaulding, 910 N. Superior-st., in an attractive ceremony which took place in front of the fireplace in the Stimson home. The Rev. R. A. Garrison of Memorial Presbyterian church performed the ceremony.

The couple was attended by Frederick Stimson as best man, and Miss Irene Stimson as bridesmaid, brother and sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding are spending their wedding trip at Ephraim, and will be at home at 303 Church-st., Neenah, after Nov. 1.

Mrs. Spaulding's brothers and sisters who came for the wedding include Paul Stimson and his family from Chicago, Frederick, also of Chicago, Mrs. R. C. Bourland, Rockford, Ill., and Miss Olive Stimson, Los Angeles, who plans to make her home here for the coming winter.

Other out of town guests included: Mrs. O. E. Most, Davenport, Iowa; Mrs. Wallace Strowd, Nashville, Tenn., formerly Miss Lorraine Spencer of this city; Mrs. George C. Sherman and Miss Pauline Sherman, Chicago; Mrs. Nick Simmon, and her son, Jamie, Hopkinsville, Ky.; James Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Ranson, Sherman, Winnetka, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gochbauer, Green Bay; Mrs. W. J. Millard, New London; Miss Alice Millard, Marshfield; George Cuff, Hortonville; Mrs. Charles Cuff, Manawa.

A 7 o'clock wedding dinner this evening at Hotel Northern compliments Mr. and Mrs. Henry Christensen, whose marriage occurred at 7 o'clock this morning in Milwaukee. The bride is Miss Violet Christensen, 741 E. John, sister of the groom, is giving the dinner.

The bride was the former Miss Patricia Nagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Nagle, Oconto, and Mr. Christensen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Christensen, also of Oconto. The couple will make their home after Oct. 1 in New Albany, Ind., where Mr. Christensen is a member of the faculty of New Albany high school.

Other out of town guests at the wedding dinner this evening will be Miss Madrian Qualley and Landis Maloney, Oconto, attendants of Mr. and Mrs. Christensen.

The wedding of Miss Isabel Roemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roemer, 1014 W. Harris-st., and Richard Kilderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kilderson, 300 N. Main, will take place at 9:30 Monday morning at St. Joseph church. The maid of honor will be Miss Hildegard Roemer and the bridesmaid, Miss Marie Roemer, sisters of the bride, with Mrs. Henry Kuemper, Menasha, as matron of honor. The groomsmen will be Sylvester Timmers, Little Chute, and Henry Kuemper, Menasha.

Invitations have been issued to 60 guests for the wedding dinner and supper which will be given Labor day at the home of the bride's parents. The couple plan to make their home in Kimberly.

The parsonage of St. Joseph church Monday morning will be the scene of the wedding of Miss Lucille Ludwig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ludwig, 306 N. State-st., and Harvey R. Wallace, 710 W. Winnebago-st., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wallace, formerly of Appleton.

The wedding will take place at 6:30 in the morning with the Father Crescentian officiating. Attendants to the couple will be Marvin Ludwig, brother of the bride, and Mrs. E. Sues, Menasha, sister of the bridegroom. A wedding breakfast for immediate relatives will be served at the home of the bride's parents, following the ceremony.

The marriage of Miss Viola Rothe, daughter of Mrs. Anna Rothe, 733 W. Winnebago-st., and Peter Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Kimberly, will be solemnized at 6:30 Monday morning at St. Joseph church. The attendants to the couple will be Miss Anita Vande Heiden, Appleton, and Arthur Kerry, Kimberly.

Golf Title Is Won by Mrs. Hunt

Mrs. J. F. Hunt, Neenah, holder of the women's championship at North Shore Country club, defeated Mrs. Arthur Scheil in the annual women's championship match at Butte des Morts Golf club this morning, two and one. Mrs. Scheil was last year's titleholder.

Mrs. Scheil defeated Mrs. H. A. De Bauser, 6 and 4 in the semi-final match Friday and Mrs. Hunt won over Miss Joan Clark, 4 and 2.

Mrs. August Brandt is the championship winner of the Class B flight; Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Neenah, Class C; Mrs. H. C. Hilton, Neenah, in Class D.

Mrs. Brandt defeated Mrs. Nick Engler, 5 and 4, Friday and Mrs. Herbert Kahn defeated Mrs. E. C. Hilfert, 3 and 2. Mrs. Kahn defaulted to Mrs. Brandt for the championship in the class finals.

Mrs. Nelson defeated Miss Mary Plank for class C championship 3 and one. In play Friday Mrs. Nelson won over Mrs. R. W. Shephard, one up, and Miss Mary Plank defeated Mrs. Arthur Lemke, 5 and 4.

Miss Marion Zelle defeated Mrs. H. P. Buck, Friday 5 and 4 in Class D flight, losing the championship to Mrs. Hilton, 2 and 2. Mrs. Hilton defeated Mrs. George Woelz, Friday, 6 and 4, before winning from Miss Zelle.

The club prizes will be awarded at a luncheon next Wednesday noon, which will be followed by a driving contest. Mrs. W. H. Nelson, chairman of the golf committee, is in charge of arrangements.

Parties

A kitchen shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. J. Spoerl, 1314 W. Pine-st., honored Mrs. S. A. Smejkal, recent bride who was formerly Miss Grace Gudenkauf of Green Bay.

Cards were in play with prizes being awarded to Mrs. A. W. Hoffmann, Mrs. F. A. Smejkal and Mrs. John Green.

Juleanne Cordes was given a party in honor of her second birthday Thursday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schaumann. Games were played with prizes being won by Ray, Edward, William, Dorothy, Elizabeth, Benjamin Schaumann and John Gallagher. Refreshments were served.

Alcohol Helpful in Treatment of Some Diseases, Report

New Haven, Conn.—(AP)—Alcohol has been found beneficial in treating some diseases but injurious in others by Dr. Harold E. Himwich and Dr. Louis H. Nahum of the Yale Medical School.

Results of their study showing that alcohol increases the acidity of the blood to points formerly believed incompatible with life were made public Friday here and at Rome, where Dr. Himwich read a paper at the International Congress of the Federation of Societies for experimental biology.

In diseases such as tetany, where the blood contains an abnormal amount of alkaline substances, the scientists determined the acidosis of alcohol acts as a neutralizing agent. Small doses of alcohol were found to be helpful in treating diabetes, for they counteract the effects of partially oxidized fatty acids.

On the other hand, the research showed administration of alcohol to pneumonia patients delays recovery by increasing acidosis.

The "hangover" following intoxication, they concluded, is caused by the accumulation and persistence of lactic acid in the blood. This substance, which does not disappear as quickly as the alcohol, also is found after strenuous physical exercise and is believed responsible for a feeling of fatigue after hard work.

Dance, Mon., Mackville Tent.

Lodge Plans Card Party This Month

THE September hostess group of the Royal Neighbors of America for this month's activities are announced, with the important function of the month centering on the open benefit card party for Thursday evening, Sept. 15.

The card party for the middle part of the month will be held at 8 o'clock at Odd Fellow hall. Bridge schafskopf and dice will be in play. A luncheon will follow the awarding of the prizes.

The Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church, which met Thursday afternoon at the church, is planning a Harvest dinner for October. Hostesses at the meeting Thursday included Mrs. A. Luebben, Mrs. H. Luebben, Mrs. Pauline Luebben and Mrs. P. Peske.

The second card party of a series sponsored by the Christian Mothers society of St. Therese church will be held Tuesday afternoon at the parish hall.

Mrs. John Adrian and Mrs. W. A. Homes are in charge, and play will begin at 2:30 in the afternoon.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

There Is a Tide

Horace Trundell, president of Federated Utilities, specialized in feeding bunk to the public. In fact, since he had almost no brains, that was why he had his job.

He was a fine orator, and when he told people that only Reds were afraid of the power trust and that utility stock prices were bound to keep on going higher, forever and ever, they all believed him. And the only trouble was that he finally got so that he believed it himself, and when 1929 knocked the bottom out of everything he fell into the soup along with the suckers.

Horace Trundell is the central figure in "There Is a Tide," by Percival Wilde; a novel which is about as bitter a satire of American business as you will easily find.

The portrait of this utilities magnate is sharply drawn. By accident and by dint of a flair for oratory the man rises to the summit although he has neither intelligence, humor nor a likable personality. He gropes blindly through the boom years and stumbles into the depression without ever knowing just what is happening; and the general effect of the novel is that of a picture of a time in which the world as a whole went nuts.

Frenzied finance, the Florida boom and the absurdities of an economic system without a balance sheet are the chief targets of this book. As a novel, it is slightly diffuse and rambling, but I think you'll find it worth reading.

Famous Society Names Are Entered in Race

BY JANE EADS

New York—(AP)—Commodore and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James are the "youngest" old colonists at Newport and their unique activities, continuously provide society with something to talk about.

Mrs. James started something when she donated a cup for an annual swimming race for the older gentlemen of Newport, for this year's event, to be held today at Spouting Rock beach, possesses the most imposing names in society.

Those who have been invited to participate in the swim include, besides Commodore James himself, Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, William F. Whitehouse, Woodbury Blair, Count Alfonso P. Villa, former Gov. Charles S. Whitman, Admiral William B. Caperton, Gen. J. Fred Pierson, Thomas Powers and Robert Kelso Cassatt.

Bradford Norman won the first of the trophies offered by Mrs. James, and Roger W. Cutler and Reginald Lanier have legs on today's.

The Jameses are occupying their summer home, Beacon Hill house, at Newport, and Mr. James commutes between New York and the resort in their black, three-mast schooner yacht, the Aloha.

The Aloha has taken the James all over the world. She superseded their first yacht, the Coronet about 25 years ago.

Thirty-six years ago the Jameses sailed 10,000 miles to Japan to get a three-minute glimpse of a total eclipse of the sun Aug. 9, 1896. Mr. James captained the yacht, Coronet. The Jameses viewed Wednesday's eclipse at Newport.

Meadowbrook colonists are entertaining large parties of house guests this weekend for the opening match of the polo championship this afternoon on International field at Westbury, Long Island.

The match between the Auroras, led by Seymour Knox, and the Hurricanes, led by Stephen Sanford, begins a program of polo activity that will not terminate until the end of the month.

Princess Alexis Obolensky will sponsor an exhibition of hand quilted articles from the Kentucky hills to be on display at the Atlantic Beach club over this weekend.

A popularity contest and the auctioning off of a pig will feature the village fair being held at Southampton this afternoon for the colony's unemployment relief fund. Mrs. G. Inness Hartley is general chairman and Mrs. John G. Peck heads the executive committee.

Dance at Cozy Inn, Kaukauna, tonight.

Woman's Club Will ### Meet Next Tuesday

A "Depression" luncheon will open the monthly meeting of the Appleton Woman's club next Thursday afternoon at the club when an open luncheon will be given for all women interested in becoming a member of the club.

Mrs. James Monaghan and Mrs. L. J. Marshall are in charge of the arrangements and all reservations must be made with either of these members by next Wednesday morning for the luncheon.

The luncheon is the first of its kind to be sponsored by the club, which will include a unique way of presenting the monthly luncheons. Each woman will bring part of her own food with the committee of hostesses preparing part of the menu.

Doting Grandparents are Worst Enemies of Babies

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—How can one protect one's children from doting grandparents? How can one keep grandparents from actually killing their children by giving them food that upsets the children's digestion and makes them sick? Why do people who have disciplined their own children spoil their grandchildren to death?

On account of the economic depression my wife's parents have come to live with us and they are absolutely ruining an unusually fine child and we are helpless to do anything in the matter. All of the child's habits have been broken up. He goes into tantrums to get what he wants which he never did before, and when we attempt to control him his grandparents undo all our work by pitying him and making him feel he is a little martyr. I know a lot of other young parents who are going through this same experience and we don't know what to do because we don't want to hurt the old people.

W. E. B.

DOROTHY DIX
Answer:
I heard a famous baby doctor once say the greatest curse that any child ever had was grandparents and maiden aunts and that these killed more children every year than disease did.

And perhaps that is not as exaggerated a statement as it sounds, because all of us have seen many a poor baby killed into hysterics by a lot of doting old aunts with false teeth and catarrh, and we have seen grandmothers surreptitiously slipping candies and sweetmeats to anemic dyspeptic little Mamie and Johnny that laid them low with stomach disorders a few hours later.

Also, it's a matter of common knowledge that all grandparents regard the modern method of child-rearing with scorn and contumely and look upon the baby book which is the young parent's Bible, as an heretical document that should be burned at the stake. Why, the very idea of putting the baby to bed at a certain hour and refusing to wake him up when Aunt Sally and Cousin Susie and Aunt Maria have just come in to see it is perfectly ridiculous. And not looking the poor thing to sleep! And letting it cry itself out! Nothing short of barbarous. And refusing to let it have even a teeny-weeny bit of candy or just a morsel of cake! Just new-fangled nonsense that is awful when your own daughter does it and positively criminal when your daughter-in-law does it.

Didn't they raise up a big family without all of this tomfoolery? Well, of course, they lost three or four, but that was the Lord's will and had nothing to do with sterilized milk or tomato juice or being put to bed on the strike of the clock. And didn't their children turn out pretty well, though nobody ever heard about child-psychology in those days or bothered with such nonsense as fixing the pattern of a child's life in the cradle?

So there you are, and it is the old school of child-rearing against the new, with the old thinking, as they always do, that they know best, and the young keen for experimentation.

And in this matter I am with the young, for I am sure that the modern child with the modern, intelligent young parents is getting the best rearing that any child has ever had since the beginning of time and has the best chance that any child has ever had to have a sound body and a sound mind. For the modern baby is disciplined and taught self-control from the very hour it is born, and when it is permitted not to have itself black in the face for what it wants and ought not to have, it gets a lesson in behaviorism that is going to stand it in good stead to the longest day it lives.

Teaching a child regular habits Teaching it that something gets it nowhere that it cannot have because they are not good for it. Teaching it patience and courage are all invaluable lessons that the modern child gets, and it is a pity that grandparents try so hard to nullify them with their spoiling. It took those of us of the last generation half a lifetime to get over the way we were raised and for life to give us the discipline that our parents should have given us.

Why grandparents act like grandparents is perhaps because they regard their grandchildren as delightful playthings provided by Providence for their amusement and diversion. Curiously enough, they feel that they have no responsibility for them, so they are at liberty to spoil them and leave their parents to undo the harm they have done.

Also, as we grow older we have an immense pity and tenderness for children as we realize all the stress and storm of life that they are bound to go through. They seem so little and so helpless that we have an overwhelming desire to shelter them, to indulge them in their heart's desire, to give them all the happiness we can before they encounter the hardships they must meet. And that is why grandparents spoil their grandchildren.

Dear Miss Dix—The people who constitute this triangle are around 30. They are my girl friend, my wife and myself. The wife is a semi-invalid and as a result of her state of health we have been and are missing much of the gaiety of life. She is faithful, economical, understanding and unselfish. We have a child of 7. The girl friend is a jewel, though inclined to be selfish like myself. She has qualities my wife will never equal. We are much in love and look at life from the same standpoint. I have offered my life on a half of my salary and all that I have if she will release me from the bonds of matrimony. She refuses, not only on account of herself, but because it will deprive me of a career and the child of a father. The girl friend is willing to assist me with a portion of her salary in starting me in a professional career if I separate from my wife. The girl contends that if I love her I will throw everything to the winds and come to her, and I maintain that there are some things in life that even love does not surpass. I feel a sense of responsibility toward my child that seems to be above love. So this is the question at issue between the three of us. Both

STREET DRESSES LEAD PARADE

BY JOAN SAVOY
NEA Service Writer
Dresses designed especially for street wear are leading the autumn fashion parade. They concentrate their decorative effects above the waist, mold the hips and finish with a flare.

One frock of dull rough crepe follows the style of a coat dress. The full sleeves are caught at a point below the elbow, where long, tight cuffs begin. The dress, which opens in the front, is fastened with a row of decorated white buttons. A row of circular stitching runs across the front to each button.

The gaily tie is the most attractive part of the trimming. This tie, which is white, is fastened to each shoulder with a large button. The ends loop to form the tie.

Not quite so severe but equally smart is a crepe satin in the rough, with both sides of the material display in the dress. Here again white lends the decorative touch. White sharkskin peau d'ange makes a V-shaped collar whose ends slip under the smooth sheen of the satin to form a soft, charming bow. A border of the white also marks the entire line of the shoulder.

The capelet sleeves, which are cut the same width as the blouse, manage to take every useless inch away from the waistline and hips. The sleeves end with long, tight cuffs which are distinctly slenderizing to the lower part of the arm.

The narrow belt, of self fabric, which marks the normal waistline, illustrates the autumn trend for belts which the new frocks are adopting.

of myself," she said. "I'll leave now."

"No, you won't. There's no place for you to go," Sue told her quickly. "You are staying here and you aren't going back to that—"

"To Hal Prichard. Never! But his eyes follow me. Even in the daytime. I've been so scared for weeks. Yet I was stubborn about it—and selfish. I've always been that way. But I learned some things later. I'm going away—so far away he can't find me."

"Fine! But first you are going to get rid of him!" Sarah said decisively. "Jack will look after it for you, when he comes back. He knows the legal intricacies. He'll help her, won't he, Sue?"

"Of course," Sue answered slowly. But Sarah's words were drifting through her mind. "When—when he comes—back!" Would he come back? But he had to—had to come back!

The clock chimed one. The woman who had come to clean had prepared luncheon. The table, set with a warm rose luncheon set, against which the tan pottery shone, was attractive. She had creamed a can of chicken and made the biscuits for it. There was a crisp fruit salad, wafers spread with cheese and browned in the oven, stuffed celery sticks and coleslaw.

Sue decided that she was hungry as she began to eat. Maybe she had needed food, she thought. She hadn't been able to eat the waffles she had ordered for breakfast. She had watched as Jack made the pile dwindle.

The telephone rang in a gossiping conversational manner pretty soon. Sue reached for it.

"Yes?" she said. Then: "Oh, Nancy, how are you?" She waited. "Oh, I see out of town?" You mean that Mr. Becker and Judge Thornton have gone out of the city on business. When will Judge Thornton be back?"

Miss Pierce Gives Aid to Questioners

ELISIE PIERCE
DEAR MISS PIERCE:

What is the best procedure to follow during the summer months on an oily skin in order to prevent your face from breaking out with rash and small pimples?

(2) Would you advise using cold cream on a not too oily skin prior to going to bed and then after a few moments taking it off with cold water, or would you disregard this procedure and follow another?

R. L.—Toronto.
The oily type of skin may be cleansed with soap and water. Be sure to rinse very thoroughly several times, the last rinse cold water, as cold as you can stand it. A good skin tonic, patied over the skin night and morning to stimulate circulation and help regulate the oil content will help. Be sure that your make-up is of the very finest quality. And pay strict attention to diet, including plenty of fruits and vegetables and avoiding excess oils, sweets and starches.

(2) The not too oily skin may indeed be cleaned with a good cleansing cream—preferably the liquefying kind. Follow with skin tonic patting or an ice rub. If the skin is inclined to be dry, smooth a little lubricating cream over face and neck.

DEAR MISS PIERCE:
Is there any particular size and age a girl must be to be a dress model and how do you get a position of that kind?

ANXIOUS.
MY DEAR ANXIOUS:
As you doubtless know there are various types of figures and as many different model sizes. There's the perfect sixteen which varies greatly in every measurement from the perfect thirty-six. There's the slim, boyish, slender figure for Junior Miss model with waist about twenty-six and bust and hips about thirty-three or four; the mature figure with waist from twenty-six to twenty-eight, hips forty, chest thirty-six to thirty-eight, and so on. The average model of today is five feet six inches; Junior Miss model is necessarily shorter. The best thing to do is to register with a reputable employment agency in your vicinity, give them all your measurements, neck, shoulders, upper arm, forearm, wrist, bust, waist, hips, thighs, age, height, and ankles, weight, age, height, and as they have calls for models they can tell how near you come to requirements. Good luck to you!

DEAR MISS PIERCE:
Sometime ago I sent for your superfluous hair bulletin and used the bleach you recommend, with much success. Recently I used exactly the same bleach, in fact I had some of the mixture left over the last time, and it did not seem to work at all. Please tell me why.

MARGUERITE
DEAR MARGUERITE:
In using the bleach you refer to, it is best to make the mixture up fresh each time, as otherwise it may deteriorate and lose its strength. And when purchasing peroxide at the drug store be sure to ask for a new, fresh bottle.

DEAR MISS PIERCE:
How can one avoid mosquito bites, and relieve them? They're such pesky things, unsightly in addition to being annoying.

JENNIE
DEAR JENNIE:
They are! You doubtless know that mosquitoes do not like the odor of citronella, nor peppermint, nor eucalyptus. So smooth one of these over arms, legs, etc. You'll find that mosquitoes also have an aversion for white and bright yellow. Wear those shades when in mosquito territory. Alcohol, witch hazel, skin tonic, ammonia or wet soap offer relief.

Elisie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GOOD TASTE TODAY
By Emily Post

COLOR
Dear Mrs. Post: My living room is furnished in tones of rust, beige, green, with occasional touches of vivid orange, black and ivory in the small objects. My dining room chairs are "black" oak, hand carved, Jacobean style. The table is refectory type of the same period. My problem is this: What color seat cushions or pads shall I use on the chairs? The chairs of this type usually have crimson velvet.

Since I have no regular dining room in our apartment, but must place the dining room furniture in an alcove off the living room, I should like your suggestion as to the color of the cushions. Crimson does not harmonize with the living-room furniture at all. Brown is too sombre. Would dull green velvet be suitable? Or should I attempt deep burnt orange or rust color?

Answer: Color is so much a question of how it looks against its surroundings and how it looks to YOU! The right green would look well, but rust colored velvet will probably be best. Try pieces of green on one chair and pieces of rust on another in order to choose the one that looks right.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am building a cabin in the woods and it will be in the rough. I mean very plain stained brown wood. I expect to furnish it with a lot of discarded furniture, which I might have to paint or do over with cushions, covers and so on. I thought perhaps it would be wise to get a large quantity of inexpensive cretonne, making covers for two day beds, chairs and curtains for the windows. But I have a Mexican scarf that I thought of using on the table and I would want a rug with perhaps

To prevent a cake from sticking, try greasing the tin and dusting it lightly with flour. As soon as the cake is taken from the oven place it in a damp cloth for a few minutes. It will then come out easily.

A few drops of turpentine dropped on a cloth and rubbed over an enameled bed will remove dirt and spots instantly and leave a good gloss.

Rugs will wear longer and more evenly, in a room that is in constant use, if turned every six months.

When sending a book through the mail, cut corners off stiff envelopes and put on book corners. Protected in this way corners will not bend.

Creating Entries is Fine Play at Bridge

BY ELY CULBERTSON
Luck, plus a little foresight and accurate play, permitted Mr. Lloyd Smith of New York to make an overbid Grand Slam on the hand discussed today. These qualities are both essential to success at Bridge. The element of luck is one entirely beyond our control. Foresight is something of which we may all have the benefit. This is the reason that I so frequently stress the importance of making a plan of the play at a hand as soon as the Opening lead is made and the Dummy is exposed on the table.

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

(1) The correct Opening bid.
(2) Perhaps a slight overbid, although the hand is very tempting, it is practically assured not more than one loser in diamonds and has the first round control of the other two suits.

(3) Also optimistic.
(4) Certainly an overbid. North has no right to anticipate that South holds the Ace of diamonds.

West's Opening lead was the club King, which was won with the Ace in Dummy, but before winning this trick, Mr. Smith planned his play with the object of, if possible, finding a place to discard his three losing diamonds. It was obvious when he studied the Dummy that, while it might be possible to establish the heart suit for discards of his losers, the question of re-entries into the Dummy, when that suit was established, was a vital one. There was a slight chance. If the outstanding trumps were divided between the adversaries and not more than four hearts were held by either, Mr. Smith thought that he could see daylight, and thus planned his play.

For the second lead, he led the Ace of hearts and returned to his own hand by ruffing a heart with the trump Queen. There appeared a chance for the hand. He therefore re-entered the Dummy by leading the 7 of spades, overtaking with the King, and both adversaries followed suit. Now nothing prevented the making of the contract. Another heart was led and trumped with a high trump, and the Dummy put in by the lead of the deuce of trumps for the lead of the fourth round of hearts, which dropped the last adverse stopper in that suit. Dummy was then put in with the lead of the trey of spades, and the three diamonds, discarded on the three established hearts.

Through the exercise of foresight and the perfect execution of an accurately made plan, Mr. Smith made his contract.

State Should Clean House, Rubin Claims

Get Rid of Republican Leaders, Says Democratic Candidate

Menasha—“Wisconsin needs a house cleaning; you have everything to gain by voting the Democratic ticket,” William E. Rubin of Milwaukee, liberal candidate for nomination as governor on the Democratic ticket said in an address at the city triangle Friday afternoon.

Rubin spoke briefly, outlining the subjects on which he would speak in an address in South Park at Oshkosh Friday evening. Arriving in Menasha, unannounced until a few minutes before his talk, he was greeted by only a small audience.

Contending that Wisconsin has had 40 years of misrule under Progressive Republican or Stalwart Republican administration and listing tax increases under both regimes, he urged voters to support the Democratic ticket, both state and national, in the coming election.

Maintaining that the regular Republican candidate for governor had the confidence of the “big interests,” but not all of the common people, and that the progressive candidate had the confidence of many of the common people but not of the “big interests,” Rubin said he had the confidence of both groups.

Discusses Banking

Mentioning banking as one of the subjects on which he would speak at Oshkosh, Rubin said that what is needed more than a constitutional amendment is a change in the attitude of the banks of Wisconsin. The progressive Republicans and stalwarts are jointly responsible for banking conditions in this state, he maintained.

Referring to his own record, Rubin told of his work as an attorney for organized labor in the United States and in other countries, and of his activities in behalf of the “underman” throughout his career. He continued with a general outline of other topics which he would discuss at the Oshkosh meeting.

The candidate also spoke briefly before a larger audience at Neenah, before continuing to Oshkosh. He is slated to appear at Kaukauna at 4 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon and at Appleton at 8 o'clock in the evening of the same day. While speaking here Friday he indicated that he would return to the twin cities for a regular address later in his campaign.

National Banks Swamp Products Team, 31 to 11

Visitors Score Heavily in Every Inning of Softball Game

Neenah—Hitting everything within reach, the First National Bank softballers romped to an easy 31 to 11 victory over the Hardwood Products aggregation in a hectic slugfest on the Columbia-ave diamond Friday evening and took undisputed possession of the senior loop championship. Each team was credited with one victory in a three-game series for the pennant and Friday's contest marked the close of senior circuit competition.

Playing before a large crowd, the Bankers pounded the offerings of three Hardwood pitchers and scored from two to 10 runs in every inning. Ragged defensive play on both sides and almost constant hitting extended the game until darkness almost prevented a continuation of the contest in the final innings.

Nixon, the winning pitcher, allowed 15 hits but with his team counting its lead by half dozens, he was in little danger. Jensen, Jape, and Wietz shared mound duties for the Products aggregation.

Past Hits Hard

The Rev. E. C. Koliath was one of the outstanding performers on the First National team's offensive, scoring four runs and pounding out three doubles and a triple in six trips to the plate. Witt, Nixon, and Buck were each credited with one or more home runs.

The Banks opened with two runs in the first inning, added two more in the second, and nearly broke up the ball game with seven hits and 10 counters in the third. Not content with that, they continued with six runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, five more in the sixth, and to add insult to injury, three more in the seventh.

The Hardwood team scored in every inning except the first but failed to chalk up the imposing total made by the opposition. Two in the second, one in the third, two in the fourth, two in the fifth, two in the sixth and two in the seventh brought the total to 11, just 20 runs short of a tie game.

Although a number of errors were contributed to the Bankers' score, their hits were estimated at 27.

Open Convention Of Brotherhood

Program Starts with Luncheon This Noon At Pythias Hall

Neenah—The ninth annual convention of the Danish Brotherhood and Sisterhood of Wisconsin and Upper-Michigan opened here Saturday noon with a luncheon at Knights of Pythias hall and will continue through Sunday and until noon Monday.

Welcome to Neenah signs were displayed by merchants throughout the city today and the number of official delegates and visitors arriving in the city was increasing rapidly shortly before noon.

An address of welcome by Mayor George E. Sande of Neenah was to precede the opening business sessions Saturday afternoon. The Brotherhood delegates were to begin their convention meetings in Knights of Pythias hall at 2:15 with the Sisterhood convening at the Danish Brotherhood hall.

Sunday's program will be featured by a number of social activities including the annual banquet Sunday noon, a tour of Neenah, Menasha, and nearby cities in the afternoon, and a Danish play at the new high school auditorium Sunday evening. Business sessions will be continued Monday morning.

Mason Named President of Alumni Group

Organization of New Association Completed by Former Students

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—During the reunion held Thursday at Dixon high school an alumni association was organized. This, it is believed, will help keep alive the interest and enthusiasm of classes. Through the foundation of a permanent association it is hoped that an annual meeting of alumni similar to that of Thursday will take place.
At Thursday's meeting, held in the auditorium, Patrick Cooney was chosen temporary chairman, and Miss Ruth Delano temporary secretary. A constitution was presented by a committee composed of Patrick Cooney, Thomas Flanagan, of Appleton, and Leo McNichols. The nominating committee included Miss Dorothy Viell and Walter Pribnow.
Carl W. Mason was chosen president of the organization, Mrs. Esther Fergot Dahlke, vice president, Carl Fellenz, treasurer, and Mrs. Myrtle Mann McCully, secretary. The directors include Mrs. Kathryn Herrmann, Abrams, Walter Pribnow and Miss Dorothy Viell. Officers and directors constitute the executive committee.

School Authorities Watch for Vandalism

New London—Steps are to be taken by the board of education to protect the new Dixon high school from vandalism. The need of precautions became manifest following the two-day formalities of dedication and reunion. Following the supper hour Thursday, food was found on the ceiling of the room equipped for the use of the school nurse. Wood from doors had been gouged out and garbage had been strewn about the floors of the engine room.
E. C. Jost, president of the board of education, stated that stringent rules will be laid down to students by the teacher, and anyone caught marring the new building will be punished. Parents are asked to cooperate with faculty and board members in bringing before their children the need of respect of public property.

Manawa School Has Enrollment Of More Than 200

Faculty Meeting to be Held Monday Morning, Registration in Afternoon

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Manawa—Increased enrollment in Manawa high school that will bring the total over the 200 mark for the first time in history is expected when classes begin on Labor Day next Monday. Improvements have been made in several of the high school rooms and the building is entirely ready to greet its occupants for the next nine months.
A faculty meeting is scheduled for 9:30 Monday morning. Students are not expected to be present in the forenoon. At 1 o'clock all freshmen or new students should register. Freshmen who cannot be present Monday may register Saturday afternoon. All students who have attended the local high school before need not appear until Tuesday morning.
L. D. Hershberger returns as high school principal for his sixth year at a salary of $2,000. Roy Bloomquist of Tomahawk will start his third term as science teacher and athletic coach, at a salary of $1,700. H. P. Barrington, Smith-Hughes agriculture teacher, will return. His salary is $2,000 plus $200 expense money, of which the state pays $1,000.
Miss Mabel Pitts returns for her tenth year as teacher of English and Latin. Miss Ione Norton of Brooklyn will again head the home economics department. Miss Gretchen Kelley of Royalton returns as history instructor. Miss Irene Cleaves of Iowa as English teacher, and Miss Louise Paulitz of Oshkosh as head of the Commercial department. All the women teachers will receive $1,125 for the year's work.

Crops Mature Early in Spite of Late Spring

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Royalton—Although the spring was rather late and cold, crops have matured unusually early this year. For the last 10 days silo filling has been in progress in Waupaca and for a week past many farmers have been busy husking ripe corn into piles in the field. Late potatoes are well set but are badly in need of rain. Fruit trees have not recovered from last year's drought and a winter of light snow. Much of the late apple crop is falling prematurely to the ground. A large acreage of rye has been sown since this year's threshing, most of which took place the last of July.
There are many fields in this township that for 15 or 20 years have been sown with rye almost continuously.

Manawa Graded School Will Begin the New Year Next Monday

Manawa graded school will begin the new year next Monday, Sept. 5, and an increased enrollment is anticipated. The only new teacher in either public school faculty is Miss Florence Larson of Wausau. She will succeed Miss Doris Edminister as third and fourth grade teacher. Miss Edminister has gone to West Salem. Miss Larson's salary will be $855.
Ralph Jannusch will again be principal at a salary of $1,500. He will also have charge of the seventh and eighth grades. Miss Margaret O'Brien of New Richmond, first and second grade instructor, and Miss Margaret Jones of Wautoma, son 77.45.

Conservatism Fidelity Competence

Because "CONSERVATISM" is the foundation of good investment we have always made it the keynote of this association's policies — an unfailing principle of SAFETY FIRST which protects our investors from the slightest risk of loss.
FIDELITY to the highest standards of building and loan procedure has marked our every transaction.
COMPETENCE of administration has enabled us to forge steadily ahead and overcome obstacles which have adversely affected almost every financial institution in the world.
Out of these three qualities has grown a confidence in our association that is shared by all who study its investment advantages.

The Faithful Cheat
BY RUBY M. AYRES

SYNOPSIS: When Mark Merriman returns home ill from the Congo, his wife Sondra does not tell him she is really in love with John Anderson. John tells her to be loyal to Mark, but his honorable position is not known by Beatrice Taylor, who spreads gossip about Sondra and John's friendship.

Chapter 34
A PACK OF LIES

Side the world turned by—a I was terrible to Mark to be forced to stay in one room while world which every night took Sondra from him.

"You must be patient," she always told him when he grumbled. "It won't be for long, and then you'll be free."

Sondra was wonderful—no wife—(what a beautiful word that was!) could have been more loving and devoted.

How he longed to be well and strong again—he knew that he still looked somewhat of a scarecrow.

With an effort he dragged himself up and across the room to the dressing-table. Yes, he certainly looked a scarecrow—his face was thin and colorless, and there were dark marks beneath his eyes.

He brushed a rueful hand across his hair; he supposed he would soon fill out and look respectable again; Sondra had often told him that he was handsome now in comparison with what he had been when she met him at the boat.

He would not soon forget that morning—the time had seemed to drag after they told him the coast was sighted, but it had ended at last, and he had heard Sondra's voice in the passage outside the sick bay, where he had spent the voyage.

She had looked white and worried, poor darling... Mark sighed and went heavily back to his chair. Sometimes even now he thought she looked ill. No doubt it was great strain upon her, coming to and fro every day to the hospital. She hadn't had any real fun for a long time—well, soon he would be able to make up to her for what she had sacrificed for him.

Women were wonderful; if they cared for a man there was nothing they would not do for him. Even his mother had at last been obliged to admit that she could find no fault with his choice of a wife. Another look at his watch—ten past three now; what could be keeping her? Then suddenly he remembered—she had told him that she was going to lunch with John Anderson. Stupid of him to have forgotten. No doubt they had a great deal to talk about, for Anderson was to tell her about the job in Italy.

Sondra would be delighted; Mark hoped she would tell Anderson how grateful they both were.

Funny how much has happened since he went away. Yesterday Sondra had told him about Flora—how she had left her husband, and now that she had returned, Mark was not surprised—marriage was like that a sacred thing.

Not that Ben was much of a chap, but after all, she had chosen to marry him.

In many ways Mark was a simple fellow; of course he knew that women often married a man for his money, but he could not imagine Sondra's sister doing such a thing.

He knew very little of Flora, but she was the sister of the woman he adored, and that fact alone had placed her on an undeserved pedestal.

A quarter past three... it must be a very long lunch he thought with a smile; wondered where they had gone. Somewhere good he was sure; Anderson always did everything in slap-up style. It would be a change for Sondra, after the days she had devoted to him.

There was a step outside the door, and he started up, his face flushed, his eyes eager.

Here she was at last, but it was only the nurse.

"Your mother is downstairs," she said. "Shall I bring her up?"

Mark sighed; his mother rather wearied him; she was a little too talkative, too affectionate, and at the back of his mind there was a half knowledge that she was jealous of Sondra even though only yesterday she had admitted—not very readily—that she could find no fault with her daughter-in-law.

Perhaps mothers were always like that.

Mrs. Merriman came into the room with her usual hurry and carrying a large bunch of roses.

"My darling boy, how are you?" Mark extricated himself from her embrace with a little laugh. "I'm better, thanks... don't stifle me."

"And when's Sondra?" She looked round the room as if expecting the girl to be hiding.

"She's lunching with Anderson," Mark said.

"With Mr. Anderson?" Mark's mother ceased to smile. "I am not sure that I like that man," she said.

Mark laughed. "Nonsense, he's my best friend."

She said quickly, "I imagine so," Mark said rather wearily. "I can't think of anything he can hope to get from me."

Mrs. Merriman seated herself beside him, and unstuffed her coat.

"There is something I want to tell you, Mark," she said.

"Well?" Mark had closed his eyes. "I am not a scandal-monger, as you know," his mother went on firmly. "I detest scandal, but when it concerns one's own so to speak, I consider it is time something was done to put an end to it."

Mark made no comment, he was hardly listening.

"It's about Sondra," Mrs. Merriman said hesitatingly.

"About... my wife," Mark was sitting up stiffly, his eyes dark and angry. "What do you mean?" he demanded.

"It is not I who have anything to say about her," Mrs. Merriman protested; she looked a little frightened. "But when I was at her rooms the other afternoon—she was—that Miss Taylor called, and naturally enough we talked. I always rather liked Miss Taylor, but—"

"I don't want to hear any more. Beatrice is a woman I particularly distrust. I don't want to hear any more, I tell you," he said again fiercely.

"Very well," his mother sighed resignedly. "I only wanted you to know for your good. I'm not accusing Sondra of anything, but if these malicious stories are going round it is time they were stopped."

"You won't stop them by repeating them," Mark said almost brutally. "And whatever stories are going round—if there are any—they're a pack of lies, you may take it from me. I'm surprised that you should trouble to listen. If Beatrice has anything to say about my wife she had better not let me hear it. A fine sort of friend she is."

(Copyright, 1932.)

Mrs. Merriman insists on telling Mark the scandal, tomorrow—and just then Sondra walks in.

YOUR OPERATION? HOW ABOUT THIS?

London—If you are one of those people who like to talk about your operation, perhaps you'll be put to shame when you read the following:

After a recent train wreck at Great Bridgeford, Col. Sandeman Allen, member of Parliament, walked along the track and found a man hanging in the wreckage by a shattered leg 10 feet above the ground.

As the leg was useless, and could not be saved, an immediate amputation was necessary. No doctor was present, and Col. Allen decided to do the job himself. He applied a tourniquet and, with a penknife, almost completed the amputation before doctors arrived.

The victim is expected to recover.

Three Teams Still Can Tie for Valley League Pennant

Sunday and Monday Games May End Race

Green Bay Must Win One—Kaukauna Three to Claim Flag

VALLEY LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Green Bay	13	6	.684
Kaukauna	11	6	.647
Wisconsin Rapids	11	7	.611
Kimberly	8	10	.444
Appleton	6	12	.333
Shawano	5	13	.278

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Kaukauna at Shawano.
Wisconsin Rapids at Kimberly.

MONDAY'S GAMES
Kaukauna at Appleton.
Shawano at Green Bay.
No other games scheduled.

THE Fox River Valley league pennant may be decided this weekend, and then again, it may not. It all depends on the two lowest clubs in league standings, Appleton and Shawano.

Sunday afternoon Kaukauna takes the hop to Shawano to play the Indians in a game postponed the first Sunday league play opened when a rain storm washed the fringes into the discard. If Kaukauna wins it remains in the pennant race. If it doesn't the Kaws are almost through depending entirely on whether Green Bay can bump Shawano on Monday in a little mix they have scheduled at the Bay.

But even if Kaukauna does win Sunday it still must play Appleton Monday afternoon. If it wins, O. K. If it loses and the Bays bump Shawano, the league season is over and the Bays champs. If both Green Bay and Kaukauna win their weekend games then the Kaws must play Appleton a game postponed on July 3 and win before they can lay claim to a tie for the bunting. So it is rather a puzzling situation and one that it takes a mathematician to solve.

Rapids Also in Running
And then there's another peculiar thing about the race. Wisconsin Rapids plays two games Sunday with Kimberly. Should the Rapids win both its contests, and should Green Bay and Kaukauna each lose a game, the Rapids would be "in" on the pennant scramble. In other words, the only teams out of the running are Kimberly, Appleton and Shawano.

Appleton plans to use Dats Crowe and a lot of other home boys to beat Kaukauna Monday at the Electric City. Dats downed the Kaws earlier in the season, sometime around Decoration day, and Manager Leo Murphy believes he has cunning enough to do the trick again. The main question is whether the Appleton aggregation can get enough runs to give Crowe a working margin.

Murphy will toil behind the plate as usual and Baldy Eggert will cavort at first. Sonny Tornow at Second and George Weisberger at short and Baldy Hawk at third. Hawk is a Dale player who performed here last fall once and whom Murphy wants to give another chance in faster company.

The outfield combination will show Verstegen or Lake in left, Bowers in center and Hillman in right.

2 Games at Kimberly
Kimberly's two games with Wisconsin Rapids at Kimberly on Sunday should prove entertaining baseball. The Rapids will be doing its best to crash through with wins in hopes of finishing in a tie for the title. Manager Reed has his squad intact and a pitching staff that boasts Biot and Specs Eastling.

The Papermaker aggregation probably will be composed mainly of young blood, Kimberly talent. The team looked kindly on the home products several weeks ago when it ran into financial difficulties and the boys have been playing good ball. The Fahrenkrug and Zeneff will be available for mound duty.

Honolulu—Fidel LaBarba, Los Angeles, won by technical knock-out over Vincente Venturillo, Manila, 10.

Hollywood, Calif.—Ceferrino Garcia, Manila, defeated Tommy King, Fall River, Mass., 10.

Stockton, Calif.—Jose Santa, Oakland, won by a technical knock-out over Bucky Harris, Australia, 2.

New York—Benny Leonard, New York, outpointed Phil Rafferty, New York 6.

Paris—Young Perez, Spain, outpointed Jose Arilla, Spain 10.

St. Louis—Sammy "Kid" Slaughter, Terre Haute, outpointed Allen Matthews, St. Louis 10.

H. O. "Pat" Page, famous University of Chicago athlete now coaching here, has pitched in every annual Alumni-Varsity baseball game since 1910.

Lutheran Softballers Will Play New London

The Appleton entry in the Wisconsin Lutheran Kittenball league will close the season here Sunday when it meets New London at Roosevelt school diamond at 12:30. Should Appleton defeat New London it will have five wins and nine defeats. Eggert who allowed Oshkosh, league champions only three hits, again will be on the mound for the locals. "Baldy" Eggert will hold down first base, H. Horn, right short, Dunsirn second base, Staedt left short, Daelke third and Rehfeldt catch. The outfield will show Krueger in left, Rothlisberg in center and Kahler in right.

Little Fox Teams Play Two Games Over the Holidays

Appleton Athletics Home on Sunday and Merchants on Monday

LITTLE FOX STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Oshkosh	15	0	1.000
Appleton Merchants	11	4	.733
Appleton Athletics	10	5	.667

Menasha	8	7	.533
DePere	3	12	.200
Wrightstown	3	13	.188
Darby	1	13	.071

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
Little Chute at Appleton Athletics.
Appleton Merchants at Menasha.
Green Bay at Neenah.
Darby at Oshkosh.
Wrightstown at DePere.

MONDAY'S SCHEDULE
(Games postponed July 3)
Appleton Athletics at Little Chute.

Oshkosh at Darby.
Neenah at Green Bay.
Menasha at Appleton Merchants.
DePere at Wrightstown.

LITTLE FOX River Valley
league baseball teams will play games here Sunday and Monday, according to the loop schedule.

Appleton Athletics will face the Little Chute club on Sunday afternoon at Interlake park as Orville Refke attempts to keep the team in third place in standings. On Monday the Athletics are booked to invade Little Chute, the game being one rained out on July 3. Who will take the mound for Appleton is a question for the A's have several hurlers available.

Appleton Merchants are booked to invade Menasha Sunday and then will come home to play Menasha here on Monday afternoon at Wisconsin school grounds. Harvey Buss draws the assignment for pitching duty on Sunday and Ken Priebe will try his best slants on Monday.

A change in the Merchant lineup will show Bedford playing short stop instead of second base and Harm Tornow at second. The change was made necessary by the fact Bill Peotter, regular short stop, gone west to enter a Washington university.

The Merchants are in second place and must win both contests to remain in the runner up position without sharing with the Athletics.

A. L. Again Back in "Organized" Hockey

Montreal, Que.—The American league has returned to the "organized" hockey fold, thereby ending one of the bitterest controversies in the history of the game.

Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, announced last night an agreement had been reached whereby the American league would resume its affiliation with the older circuit and once more become subject to the N. H. L.'s player draft.

At the same time, the American agreed to suspend operations in all cities where the game had been instituted by any one of the three leagues constituting "organized" hockey—the National, Canadian-American and International. This clause in the agreement means the passing of Buffalo and Chicago from the American league picture, leaving the Chicago Blackhawks to the Blackhaws of the National league and the Buffalo field to the Bisons of the International.

Arthur (Red) Bultman, former Marquette university star, has been signed to assist at the center post. Bultman starred with Brooklyn last fall and it cost the Packers a fat bundle of cash to secure his contract.

The new guards added to the Packer fold are Herman Hickman, Clyde Van Sickle and George Gibson. Hickman is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. Van Sickle played professional football with the Frankford Yellowjackets in 1930. Gibson was graduated from the University of Minnesota and served as coach at Carleton college, Minneapolis, Minn., last fall.

No new tackles have been signed, inasmuch as three veterans, Claude Perry, Cal Fubard, and Dick Stahman are returning.

Invite Everyone To Enter Amateur Golf Tournament

May Register, Immediately Start Qualifying Play

Jaces Decide
REGISTRATIONS for the city amateur golf tournament being sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce, and qualifying round for which is to be played Saturday, Sunday and Monday, can be made at the municipal course anytime during the three days, it was announced today. Any player wishing to qualify for the tourney need only enter as he starts on the qualifying round.

While interest in the tournament is running high, the Jaces want more golfers to enter. The tourney has for its purpose selecting a city champion, they point out, but players who can't contend with potential champions also are asked to enter.

After the qualifying round players will be divided into flights of 12 or 18 men each. The low 12 or 18 players will be in the championship flight the next 8 or 12 in flight B and so on down the list. It is expected there will be at least five flights.

The flight system enables the Jaces to determine the best player in the various classes. It also gives the man who shoots 90 or 96 or 100 or 110 a chance to compete in tournament play, something denied most municipal golfers. Anyone who swings a club can qualify for some flight, the registration committee states.

Pairings for match play, which begins Tuesday, will be announced Tuesday morning. The championship matches in all flights will be played next Sunday.

Gar Wood Victor In First Cup Race

Comes from Behind and Cops With a Spectacular Finish

Harmsworth Course, Detroit.—Gar Wood, after trailing at the start, pushed his Miss America X to a brilliant victory in the first heat of the Harmsworth trophy race on Lake St. Clair today.

Kaye Don, British challenger, hurled his Miss England III over the course at a marvelous speed, took the lead at the start of the race and held it for nearly 28 miles, but Wood was not to be denied, and he opened up his craft to higher power to overtake the Briton and win the race.

Wood's finish stunned the crowd of more than 100,000 persons who lined the shores and crowded lake boats to see the 35 nautical mile race before the race, but began again at the close of the fourth lap.

Don, after roaring away to the long lead, gained consistently three laps. Wood picked up some of the distance on the fourth lap, and on the final round turned loose his 48-cylinder speed giant of 6,400 horsepower to completely overwhelm the English challenger.

Wood's speed for the 35 nautical miles of the heat was 76.204 statute miles per hour, while Don's was 71.265.

Choppy water apparently slowed both boats, as neither pilot was able to get under full power on the three-mile straightaway because of the bouncing about of their boats.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Eric McNair, Athletics—Drove in seven runs against Red Sox in double bill with three home runs, double and single.

George Blaeholder, Browns—scattered White Sox' eight hits and won 3-1.

Hazen Cuyler and Mark Koenig, Cubs—Their home runs aided in defeat of Cardinals.

Larry French, Pirates—His effective pitching beat Reds, 2-1.

SEEK STATE SOFTBALL TITLE AT MADISON

The Fox River Valley All Stars, shown above, left this morning for the state tournament at Madison and played their first game this afternoon against Baraboo. Organized from among the members of the Appleton All-Stars, last year runner-up for the state title, the Stars have won 30 games and lost 8 during the season now coming to a close.

The Stars have played practically the pick of softball aggregations in the state. They met and defeated teams from all the Fox river valley cities, from Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Racine, Kenosha, Wausau, Clintonville and New London.

A pitching staff consisting of the best ball players in the city features the Star squad, although it also is well balanced in other respects.

Sarazen Likes Appleton; May Exhibit Here Soon

By GORDON R. MCINTYRE
GENE SARAZEN likes Appleton and Neenah-Menasha—and he's looking forward to coming here again soon to show in an exhibition. He doesn't think so much of Oshkosh, he's getting tired of chasing around the country playing golf and he hates the so called friends who steal clubs out of his bag for souvenirs.

Sarazen and Scott Douglas, Kenosha, an intimate friend, were guests of Dr. E. H. Brooks last evening at a dinner at Riverview Country club at which 46 Appleton, Neenah and Menasha golfers were present. And all had a chance to shake hands with the chunky, smiling fellow who this year won the national and the British open titles and who might be up at St. Paul playing in the national professional golfers tournament if it wasn't for some positive scruples he has about not playing when you don't make the grade with the rest of the fellows in a qualifying round.

But the fact that Gene didn't qualify for the P. G. A. gave Appleton men an opportunity to meet him, so after all someone benefitted.

This was supposed to be a vacation week for Gene after he failed to qualify for the P. G. A., but so far he's played every day except Monday, has been on the go continually and really is getting to the point where he'd like to quit for a few days or maybe a week or two. He's been playing steadily since in June and is getting tired he said. And today he showed at Green Bay, Sunday he'll show at Madison, etc. etc.

The exhibition tour has been successful from the standpoint of attendance. Sarazen said, but he wasn't so well satisfied with the turnout at Oshkosh. And he left for Green Bay rather apprehensive because some of his Appleton and Neenah-Menasha acquaintances were telling him stories that made him rather skeptical. But Gene realized they had ulterior motives—they wanted him to stay here a day or two.

Asked when he found his game improving most Sarazen said it was after he had experimented a bit and found several new methods of keeping himself "swinging in the old groove" as he put it. Incidentally one of these is use of a 22 ounce driver for practicing and he went on to explain that he never used it in tournament play as newspapers had said, only in practice. His regular driver is an ordinary club of about 14 ounces.

Most of his clubs are of his own design but only a few of those he now carries are clubs that he started with on his jaunt. Down at Milwaukee a few days ago he had two or three stolen from him and that angered him more than anything. "That's a dirty trick," he said, but added sort of philosophically, "it isn't so bad as long as they don't swipe that putter."

Commenting on the P. G. A. tournament at Keller course, Minneapolis, Sarazen said it wasn't surprising that many of the better known pros had fallen by the wayside. It's a peculiar course, he said, for pars are easy to get and birdies are mighty hard, a great chance for the unexpected to happen.

Gene isn't what you'd call "cocky," as a matter of fact he has a big pleasant smile and an almost boyish manner about him, but you can't kid him about golf. If your ideas don't coincide with his he isn't backward about telling you he thinks you're all wet. He's got his own style, it's won him plenty of money and international honors. So far as Gene Sarazen is concerned, that's the way golf should be played.

And as we said, Gene likes Appleton and he'll be back here again soon, just wait and see.

Among those who attended the dinner in his honor last night were R. H. Purdy, Karl Stansbury, John Sensenbrenner, Mowry Smith, Scott Douglas, George Gaylord, Paul Scallion, John Stevens, J. D. Steele, Charles Boyd, Dr. L. H. Moore, Dr. J. B. MacLaren, E. H. Harwood, J. F. King, R. H. Thickens, Chester Shepherd, D. W. Bergstrom, Jr., Ken Dickinson, A. C. Gilbert, William Van Nortwick.

New York Yanks Have Chance to Set a New Record

Have Played 132 Consecutive Games Without Being Shut Out

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
THE New York Yanks today had the opportunity to prove themselves the most consistent scoring machine in all the history of organized baseball.

If Joe McCarthy's sluggers put across a single run in today's final tussle with Washington at Yankee Stadium, they will eclipse the existing record of 132 consecutive games without a shutout set by the Philadelphia and Boston clubs of the National league in 1894.

They equaled the old mark yesterday, even while they were losing to the Senators, 7 to 1. For eight innings big Firpo Marberry took them back monotonously, yielding only four hits, but in the ninth Babe Ruth drew a pass and Lou Gehrig crushed a triple.

It was the second straight day the league leaders preserved their record by the narrowest of margins. Alvin Crowder having blanked them until after game was out in the ninth. The defeat reduced the Yanks' lead over the Athletics to 9½ games.

Fox's Hits No. 49
Jimmy Fox continued his pursuit of the Babe's homerun record, knocking No. 49 out of Shibe park as the Athletics enjoyed a field day at the expense of Boston, 7 to 3 and 13 to 0.

In the only other American league game, the St. Louis Browns took a tight one from Chicago, 3 to 1. George Blaeholder getting the better of Ted Lyons in a pitching duel.

Continuing their burning pace at the head of the National league, the Chicago Cubs chalked up their thirteenth straight victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, 8 to 5. Hazen Cuyler and Mark Koenig hit home runs to lead a 14-hit attack on three Cardinal pitchers.

The Pittsburgh Pirates made six victories in a row by beating Cincinnati, 2 to 1. Larry French allowed the Reds nine hits, as against six the winners could manage off hard-luck "Red" Lucas, but timely blows by Traynor and Thevenow made the difference.

Bay Shortstop is Leading Batter

Becker of Green Sox, Tops Shawano Indian by 1 Percentage

Eldon Becker, Green Bay shortstop, got four hits in five trips to the plate against Kaukauna last Sunday and this swatting spree put him back on top in the Valley league batting race with an average of .398.

Becker's margin over Chief Waukechon, Shawano second sacker, is less than one percentage point.

Freddie Hackbath is third with .392 and Red Smith, Kaukauna, is fourth with .385 Les Smith, Kaukauna, slugger, who was leading, met his "waterloo" at the hands of Joe Petek and skidded to fifth place. He was out in the Valley league batting race with an average of .308.

The leading hitters:

ST. PAUL.—It was Olin Dutra, the strapping par-smasher from Saint Monica, Calif., against Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., and champion Tom Creavy of Albany, N. Y., opposed to the surprising Frank Walsh of Chicago today as the national professional golf show entered the semi-finals.

Gone were the long shots, Al Collins of Kansas City, Ralph Stonehouse, mighty little Hoosier from Indianapolis, and Herman Barron from Portchester, N. Y. Out of the struggle, too, was Bobby Cruickshank, New York's wee Scot with a deadly punch.

Nothing but sizzling struggles were anticipated today as the four members of the tournament's last man's club opened their drives for Sunday's final but the one between Dutra and Dudley was regarded as the "natural" with the odds fluttering strongly toward the Pacific coast star, now in the midst of his greatest year in golf.

Dutra, winner of the championship medal, has been 12 under par since the tournament opened and has brushed aside his opponents with ease. Dudley has the show quite that good a game but did display his nerve and stamina yesterday with a rousing rally that enabled him to defeat Al Collins of Kansas City after 38 holes.

In his sweep toward championship form this season, Dutra has won the Metropolitan open, the North Shore open at Chicago, and narrowly missed the National open and the Western open crowns. He has shattered four course records from coast to coast.

Creavy was rated a favorite over Walsh but the galleries didn't look for anything like a set-up. The Chicago star, recovered from a bad injury that forced him out of the winter tournaments, has galloped in with easy triumph, tumbling Cruickshank yesterday, 8 and 7, to join the champion in the semi-final of the lower bracket.

The Koller course is 6,686 yards long and has par of 72.

Millers Lead A. A. Field by 9 Games

Can be Considered Winners of Championship; Birds Second

Chicago.—About all that remains of the American association championship race is the disposal of the other seven places, Minneapolis today being just about in.

The Millers trimmed St. Paul, 15 to 2, yesterday to increase their margin over Columbus to nine full games. At the rate Donnie Bush has been operating his machine, the games is plenty. Even if they win only half of their remaining 26 games, Columbus, holder of second position, would have to grab 22 decisions out of 26.

Outside of Louisville and St. Paul, which are carrying on quite a struggle over seventh place, the other clubs have a chance of landing in the first division. Columbus today was only two and one-half games ahead of Indianapolis, and the Indians had a margin of two points over Kansas City. The Blues led Milwaukee by one two and one-half games, and Toledo the outsider in the first division battle, was two and one-half games back of the Brewers.

Pitching two games against the Giants in three days, Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals won both by holding the opposition to four runs and 10 hits in the 18 innings.

Eddie Anderson, third son of Coach Frank Anderson, will play quarterback at Oglethorpe university this fall.

International Net Stars in U. S. Singles

Forest Hills, N. Y.—The finest international field since 1927 assembled at the West Side club today for the opening of the national singles tennis championship.

Despite the high calibre of the opposition, Ellsworth Vines, lanky Californian, was favored to retain the title he won in such sensational fashion last year.

Standing in the way of Vines' second crown in as many years were 17 of this country's first 20 ranking players; Henri Cochet and Marcel Bernard of France; H. W. Austin and Fred Perry of England, and Jiro Satoh and T. Kuwabara of Japan.

Strongest of the home-breds, aside from Vines, loomed George Lott, Wilbur Allison, Frank Shields, Sidney Wood, Cliff Sutter, John Ryn, Lester Stoen, Gregory Mangin, Davey Jones, Berkeley Bell and Frankie Parker, the 16-year-old Milwaukee youngster who holds the national junior title and thrice has whipped Lott this year.

Close Matches in B. D. M. Club Play

Ken Dickinson Beats Charles McKenney on the 18th Green

First round matches in club championship play at Butte des Morts golf course brought forth the greatest number of low scores and the closest matches recorded at the club in a long time.

Jimmy McKenney won his first match when he eliminated Art Lemke 3 and 2, the former shooting a 74 score and the latter a 77.

Ernest Brandt turned back Frank Murphy 5 and 2, August shooting a 74 and Murphy a 78. Paul Hackbert lost a close match to Tom McKenney, 2 and 1, and Ken Dickinson eked out a victory over Charles McKenney on the eighteenth green.

McKenney chased a long putt up to the edge of the cup, only the last hole ball rimming the hole and staying on the green. It would have halved the match. Dickinson shot 75 and McKenney a 78.

R. A. McGowan and Bud Fischer still were to play their first match today or Sunday as were Carson Harwood and Heber Pelkey.

The only matches played in the lower bracket of the title race saw Gordon Derber beat

New York.—The bull drive in stocks, were pressed vigorously forward in one of the busiest Saturday's of the year in the stock exchange today.

Weekend profit taking was barely noticed, as a sharp gain in freight car loadings and confident predictions of a pickup in steel production, prompted heavy buying.

The turnover approximated two and a half million shares in the two-hours of trading, which was at the pace of about 6,000,000 for a full session.

The movement in shares was helped by further recovery in bonds, and a good tone in principal commodities.

Utilities and industrial led the day's forward movement, with rails performing more sedately.

United Aircraft, which has been the subject of gossip of pool activity, shot up about 5 points.

The price average of 90 representative issues actually passed through to new high ground for 1932, getting a shade above the high of March.

The gain in freight car loadings, as announced for the week ending August 27, was more than 19,000 cars, the largest in some time.

A very sharp gain is usually experienced in that week. The gain this time was substantially under the gains of 40,000 cars or so experienced in good times, but in view of the low level from which it started, the gain on a percentage basis made a good showing.

Wheat Borrows Strength from Stock Market

Sentiment is Mixed But Disturbing Influences Are Lacking

BY GILES L. FINDLEY
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago.—Wheat borrowed enough strength from cotton and stocks today to score a quick early gain of about a cent, but later dealings were in a narrow range around the opening quotations.

Trade sentiment was mixed, but disturbing influences were lacking. There was considerable evening up for the double holiday ahead and selling attributed to "spread" trading with Winnipeg.

Trade was generally quiet after the initial bulge. Corn showed fair strength with wheat despite some hedging pressure.

Reports of light frosts forecast for tonight in western corn states were almost ignored. Oats followed wheat and corn.

About midseason wheat was 1-1½ cents higher than yesterday's 1-1½ and corn 1-1½ up.

Rumanian advices said that stocks of old crop remaining in that country were 21,250,000 bushels.

The new crop is said to be maturing well. The French wheat crop for 1932 was officially estimated at 332,000,000 bushels, 12,000,000 bushels greater than the average French home requirements, and 62,000,000 more than the 1931 crop.

Russian dispatches said that foreign correspondents and writers have been placed on the food ration allowance in that country.

Traders here interpreted this to mean that Russia is facing a serious food shortage, and probably will not figure prominently in the wheat export trade this year.

Corn and oats were generally steady.

Training Started

Wins Fame as Designer of Memorial Stone
Structures

Long has the battle waged in scientific circles over the matter of heredity. Does the son of an artist inherit the instincts and artistic ability of the father, or has his early environment given him his ideas? The public has not been concerned itself greatly over which it is, as long as the artistic ability and ideas are to be had.

Charles J. Madson of the Twin City Monument Works at 301 Main-st., Neenah, is the son of a man who won distinction in the same line. That may be the reason he is a practical sculptor, able to create from the block of stone the design one may want, and a practical designer, able to suggest the ideas and designs that will meet the desires of his patrons.

Maybe, however, this ability came from training, first at the hands of his father, then at the Chicago Art Institute, of which he is a graduate; later in the 17 years he served in the wholesale manufacture of memorials, and still later in the 13 years in which he has been engaged in the retailing of such memorials.

While still a very young man he did the work on the soldiers and sailors monument in Milwaukee, whereby he created from a block of stone one of the show pieces of that city. From then on he has been designing, altering and executing fine monumental and cut stone work, for buildings and memorials.

Mr. Madson has worked at every phase of the business, from the sculpturing of intricate designs on art memorials, and his wide experience makes him an expert advisor as well as workman.

The local plant is said to be the most complete in the state. Its equipment in machinery is complete for the finest work, and it carries an immense stock. It has the exclusive agency for the Mt. Red Wisconsin granite in Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca, Calumet and Fond du Lac counties, and the local agency for the famed Rock of Ages granite from Vermont.

No work is too small or too large for this shop to take care of efficiently, and when one thinks of memorials his mind will naturally turn to Wisconsin's finest memorial plant.

Radio Delivery
Can be Bettered
Adjustment of Sets is Simple Matter in Hands
Of Experts

Most radio sets are capable of better performance than the owner gets out of them. In a matter of dealing with as delicately proportioned a thing as a wavelength and the variation of sound that may be carried upon it, the utmost nicety of apparatus and adjustments is required. Now, the quality of pleasure that one will derive from his set is dependent upon the accuracy of the reception.

Manufacturers have done much to make the radio reliable. Nevertheless, electricity being what it is, and being affected by so many factors, machines will get out of adjustment. One who listens to a receiving set night after night may not notice its progressive degeneracy, but a visitor coming in does.

Adjustment of the radio to its best is a comparatively simple matter to a man who knows how, but an endless lot of complications to the other fellow. In Appleton a great many sets that should be delivering the beauty of song and instrument are merely delivering noise because they need expert attention.

The H. and R. Radio Service at 1722 N. Appleton St. exists for the relief of this condition. The proprietors are real experts on radio work, and an hour or two at your set would bring back to you the enchantment of the early ownership and the joy of a perfect instrument. They can be called over phone 677, and will do the work at your house if you insist, but prefer to work in the shop, where everything needful to do the best kind of repair and adjustment is at hand.

Genuine Interest In Auto Service
Motorists Cited to Garage
Of Experience for Good Work

Drivers of motor cars realize that their machines need a certain amount of service. Often enough this amount is exceeded because the place where the service is obtained is either poorly equipped or indifferent to the needs of the customer. Therefore a driver wants to know three things about a service station into which he drives his car. The first of these is whether the men who work on the car are capable of giving the needed service; the second is whether the place is equipped to give real service, and the third is whether the job is to be well taken care of or indifferently done.

Drivers in Appleton and vicinity have these questions answered for them by the service extended by the Ed Barber Auto Service at 1300 W. Wisconsin Ave. Here is a place that is genuinely interested in the results obtained from the car entrusted to them. The more satisfaction the owner gets, the more people will be interested in this particular garage.

Men Experienced
With that thought in mind the garage has been carefully equipped to render service, having in its tools everything required. It is therefore in position to overhaul motors, and to do anything required to put back the pep and performance that distinguish cars when new. Experienced men imbued with a desire to put each job into perfect order, have acquired not only a knowledge of motor mechanics that makes them most proficient, but also have learned the way to do the work in the quickest possible time—an item of importance to most people.

In addition to any kind of auto repairs, the garage does greasing. This service is of course of prime importance if one is to get satisfactory service and if one is to maintain the car in condition to perform well. In this one-stop service station it is done so carefully and with such superiority to the work of less well equipped shops as to make it almost a revelation to the man who has never enjoyed thorough greasing service.

Cars are washed also by this company. It is essentially a complete service, including everything needed. Day and night towing service is also maintained.

Shimek Checked up On Successor at Popular Hostelry
Turned Life's Work Over
To Hill After Satisfying Self

About 36 years ago Joe Shimek established the Appleton Junction Hotel. Joe was a type of man all men should have. He had the place, he set about with system and infinite care to make it as well and favorable known as a hotel could be.

In those days, and even yet, two things may distinguish a hotel. Other things there are in abundance that require a hotel man's attention, but with little effort anybody can care for these things, whereas only a rare sort of genius can develop the right air of hospitality and maintain a dining room that will be talked about wherever lovers of good things to eat gather.

Shimek did both. True, he was in business to make money, but he took an immense pride in this hotel, and worked hard to make it a favorite resort. After about 30 years of service, Shimek realized the necessity of a successor. Here he displayed his love for the hotel uniquely and wisely. He found the man he thought should take it over, but he did not say a word to him. For two years he watched this man, checking up on the hundred and one things that make a real hotel man.

At the end of the two years the inspection had satisfied him, and he turned the hotel over to Thomas T. Hill, the present owner. Mr. Hill found a fine tradition to live up to, and he and Mrs. Hill, who participates actively with him in the management of the place, have kept up the traditions.

One of these is that nothing can be too good for the restaurant. Mrs. Hill looks after this, so the food is really home cooked. But it goes a step further than that, for only best quality is ever served here. The tradition is that the place must be conducted along the best lines of an English tavern, where hunters may bring their kill and enjoy it themselves, and where the fisherman may have his finny victims cooked just as he wants them.

For those who use either gun or rod, Mrs. Hill prepares the best the market affords in delightful ways. Steaks, boneless perch, lobster, frogs' legs, game in season, and regular weekday and Sunday dinners meet the popular taste with more than is expected at the prices.

Special parties find it a pleasure to meet and dine here, and bridge clubs and other social gatherings are cared for in private dining rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill seem destined to add further laurels to one of the favorite old time hotels of this locality.

Contractors Show Optimistic Minds
For Future Needs
Hoffman Co. Realizes
Great Demand for Buildings Will Come

Contractors are optimists. They have reason to be, for the contractor probably more than any else realize that the great works remain to be done in this country, and that the road building, utility construction, business houses and dwellings will all be inadequate in a few years more and require much more comprehensive plans and much greater structures than now exist.

Just in the matter of dwellings it is becoming increasingly evident that the country will have to embark on a big building program before long. For the last three years this class of structure has been comparatively neglected. Meantime the population of the country goes on increasing at an astonishing rate and these people must have homes. Content perhaps now to put up with unsatisfactory conditions in housing, when the business cycle turns a little further toward the prosperity the country must enjoy, there will be a demand for more homes.

Demands Improvement
What is true of homes is true of business buildings. Growth demands better facilities all of the time. Nor is the man, in a good home and a good business building content to let his surroundings alone. He demands improvement in them, and the cycle swings around until it has covered all sorts of structures and all kinds of contracting.

Appleton has a prominent contracting firm that goes ahead with each year, developing its facilities, discharging its tasks well and promptly, and boosting the community by the excellence of its work. The Hoffman Construction Co., at 1528 N. Appleton-st., under the leadership of F. W. and Paul Hoffman takes the country for its field, goes anywhere and does all kinds of contracting work, from the little remodeling job to the largest undertakings.

This company has a large list of works accomplished, many of them of magnitude in the 40 years it has served this neighborhood, and expects to keep itself in position to do greater works as the development of the community shall call for them.

Supplies Ready For School Work
Excellent Materials at Great Office Supply
Appleton Store

Now that the boy and girl are going back to school, the purchase of school supplies is of interest. Youngsters are inclined to buy where it is convenient, regardless of cost, and the quality of the material they may be getting. It is up to Dad, who pays the bill, to put in a word about where these things should be purchased.

There is not a place in town where the student can be better fitted out than at Sylvester & Nielsen, Inc. Here access to the best of everything is made easy. Pencils in great variety, including the best known brand, for general use and from drawing, colored pencils, "Eversharp," colored Eagle automatic pencils, erasers of the various kinds art gum, mucilage, ink, paste—just everything one needs—are ready for use.

In paper, too, the various forms required, on good stock, are carried. Artists' materials of all kinds are carried in stock, including drawing paper, brushes, pencils, colored crayons, inks and everything the student can use.

One may as well have the good materials as the inferior—the cost is about the same, and when one buys at Sylvester & Nielsen's he gets full value for his money.

Steel Contributes To Good Building
Greater Use Means Rigidity
And More Durable
Qualities

Extent to which steel has contributed to modern building is but little realized in the consideration of large buildings by those not familiar with building methods, and is hardly thought of in connection with home building. Of course the big structures would not be possible without the use of frames of steel, but the small home might use more steel with good results in many places.

The use of steel beams in houses need not cost more than the building up of such beams by spiking together 2x10 pieces, and would be found of infinitely more value. When supported by a steel pillar the house is much more rigid, and thus prevents the sinking of the floors away from the trim that mars many otherwise good homes and furnishes dead traps to annoy the housewife. In fact, the use of a few steel girders will give the whole house much more stability at no more cost.

Sizes In Stock
Inasmuch as the required sizes are carried in stock by such concerns as the Fox River Boiler Works located at 701 S. Bounds-st., it will be found that the cost of securing the greater stability of steel is little, if any, more than the cost of building up timbers, and the results are so much more satisfactory that every home builder would insist upon this type of construction if he would stop to think about it.

Maintenance of a large stock of steel available on short notice by this company has been a great service to the builders of this city. It is possible to secure channels, plates, I beams and other forms of structural steel on short notice, and the more elaborate work is fabricated in the plant to the sizes and forms demanded by the architect's plans. This plant, by the way, is equipped with the most modern appliances for this work, and with its facilities the experience of the management is as your service at all times for the planning and execution of your needs in steel construction.

Pannek Returns from Chiropractors' Meet
J. A. Pannek has returned from the annual clinic at the Palmer school of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa. Hundreds of leading chiropractors from throughout the country, graduates of the Palmer school, gather at the institution to assimilate more knowledge, so that the latest and newest technique in Chiropractic can be spread throughout the country in a new, better and revised form. The work of the Chiropractor is to correct subluxations (misaligned vertebrae) found in the spinal column. This is done by an adjusting move performed with the bare hand in a scientific manner, which in time returns the bony segments to their normal articular relation and releases the pressure their former deviations caused on the nerves affected. When such adjustment is complete mental impulse will flow unretarded and health will result naturally. Your health depends upon whether or not the vertebrae of your spine is pressing on nerves and shutting off their forces. Chiropractic will remove the cause of your disease and nature is ever ready to take care of the defect when she has a chance. In addition to knowledge acquired thru these long years of constant study, the Pannek Chiropractic Clinic located in Appleton at 119 E. College Ave. Heckert-Kamps Bldg., the telephone number is 4319-W, has excellently equipped offices, with X-Ray and Neurocalometer.
